Disclose Bolivia Sought To Draft U. S. Army Pilots

EVIDENCE PRESENTED AT HEARING

Probe Reveals Curtiss Co. Attempted to Get Young Aviators From Texas

CONFERENCE SOUGHT

Chilean Air Chief Endeavored to Meet Hoover to Offset Sales Work

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Evidence that the Curtiss-Wright Export corporation in February, 1934, attempted to draft young graduates of the United States Army's Kelly field flying school at San Antonio, Texas, to take new airplanes to foreign countries was presented today to the senate munitions committee.

The revelation came as the Du Ponts—Pierre S. Irenée, Felix and Lamont—waited to testify about their armament business. The committee expected to reach them by afternoon.

The Curtiss corporation, according to correspondence introduced by committee investigators, also proposed to recruit a Kelly field graduate for a job as machine gun instructor in China.

Other letters showed that the company was asked by Bolivia in 1933 to supply United States Army pilots for duty against Paraguay in the Gran Chaco.

Evidence that the Curtiss-Wright Export corporation instructed its Washington office in March, 1933, to arrange for a meeting between President Hoover and the chief of aviation of Chile to offset the sales efforts of the Prince of Wales, on his good will tour of America, also was presented.

The Chilean air chief was Commandante Arturo Merino. Curtiss-Wright officials said the Prince of Wales invited Merino to visit him in England.

Letter Is Read

A letter from Intercontinental Aviation, Inc., export corporation selling agent in China, to the New York Curtiss office on Feb. 6, 1934, said:

"Jack Allard, president, has asked me to write and see if you could obtain from the army a list of about 25 recent graduates of Kelly field, together with their service records, from which we could pick a number for ferrying airplanes to a foreign country with the possibility that they might obtain employment with that foreign government.

"We understand that a number of Kelly graduates have been discharged recently and these are the men to whom we refer.

"There exists an opening for a man in China to act as machine gun instructor who may also be selected from this list."

Another letter from the same agent, dated Feb. 13, 1934, said: "I talked with Mr. Allard regarding the specifications for pilots and he advised that he does not wish to disclose any information regarding what countries the pilots are to go. He wishes you to obtain the names of pursuit, bombardment and attack and observation pilots who are interested in going to a foreign country and a specification from them as to what country they would like to go."

"From time to time we have occasion to send men out and we would like to have in our files information concerning a number of such pilots."

RETAIL SALES FOR AUGUST SHOW GAIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(UP)—August sales of the country's leading department stores showed a gain of considerably more than the estimated seasonal amount, the federal reserve board reported today.

The sales were 79 per cent of the 1923-1925 average, compared with 73 per cent in July and 77 per cent a year ago.

The Richmond district in August showed a 10 per cent gain; Atlanta and Chicago gained 6 per cent each; Kansas City and San Francisco, 5 per cent each; Philadelphia, 3 per cent; Dallas, 2 per cent. The New York, Cleveland and Minneapolis showed no change, while Boston fell 4 per cent.

Adds Pickles To Loot in Store Holdup

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 12.—(UP)—They may have been bold, bad bandits, but one, apparently, also was an obedient husband with a grocery list.

Anyway, when the two men ordered Richard Powell, clerk, to put the store's cash in a sack, Powell looked at the gun one flourished, and complied.

"And stick in a jar of sweet pickles, too," added the robber.

With the pickles and $150 the pair then walked out.

SINCLAIR GETS CONTROL OVER SAN FRANCISCO

Democratic County Committee Gives Him Unanimous Endorsement

BULLETIN
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Upton Sinclair, Democratic candidate for governor of California, arrived here today after an extended stay in Washington, D. C., where he conferred with federal officials on his epic plan to abolish poverty in the state.

The nominee indicated that if his plan succeeds, it may be attempted on federal projects throughout the nation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Political forces for the November election were shaping up today with Upton Sinclair, Democratic nominee for governor, gaining endorsement of party leaders in several strategic points of the state.

Sinclair held the unanimous endorsement of the Democratic county central committee of San Francisco, a group controlled by George Creel, Sinclair's leading opponent in the recent primary. Creel was named a delegate to the state party convention in Sacramento.

The Alameda county Democratic committee, which includes members from populous Oakland, also endorsed Sinclair, but the Santa Clara committee withheld action until after the state convention.

Sinclair also gained support in Southern California by the election of new chairmen, favorable to him, in committee organizations in Los Angeles, San Diego and San Bernardino counties.

Five Southern California counties, however, dealt what were regarded as reverses to the Sinclair campaign by electing chairmen believed to be against Sinclair, by postponing endorsement of his candidacy. They were Santa Barbara, Riverside, Orange, Imperial and Ventura counties.

The Fresno county committee ignored action on Sinclair's candidacy, although the vice-chairman of the committee publicly endorsed the party's primary choice.

Sacramento and Shasta county committees also were non-committal on the governorship.

TUGWELL ESCAPES PROCESS SERVER

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Rexford Guy Tugwell, under secretary of agriculture, successfully dodged a process server and sailed for Europe today on the liner Manhattan, President Roosevelt was advised.

Tugwell, who came here last night to say good-bye, was considerably worried, the president smilingly revealed, for fear that the process server in an Hawaiian sugar suit against the government would catch up with him and prevent departure. He managed to elude pursuit, however.

Not so with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. He was asleep in a train berth, Tugwell told the president, when he was roughly shaken and awakened to find a subpoena thrust into his hand. The incident occurred at Baltimore.

Scores Hurt As Strikers Stage Riots

Martial Law Declared in Rhode Island to Prevent More Bloodshed

SAYLESVILLE, R. I., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Martial law was declared in riot-torn Saylesville today as hundreds of additional National Guardsmen swarmed in to town to prevent further bloodshed after 40 hours of sporadic violence.

The casualty list of the worst strike outbreak in Rhode Island's history stood as follows:

Five strike sympathizers shot.

Ninety-two strike sympathizers injured.

Twenty-eight National Guardsmen injured.

These were only the known casualties. Scores of other combatants in the open warfare which raged at the Sayles Finishing plant from mid-afternoon yesterday until daybreak nursed bumps and bruises inflicted by bludgeons and bricks.

The fighting between guardsmen, state troopers and deputy sheriffs on the one hand, and grimly determined strike sympathizers on the other was given a weird touch by a midnight clash which transformed nearby Moshassuck cemetery into a battlefield.

Strikers fought the authorities with rocks and other missiles and used gravestones as shields. As 1100 more National Guardsmen were rushed here by truck from Providence to re-enforce the 130 already on duty, Adj. Gen. Herbert R. Dean, commanding the forces, proclaimed martial law. It was the first occasion civil government has been superseded since the textile strike began.

Martial law did not apply to the entire town of Saylesville, but only to an area about a mile and a half long and a mile wide, the center of which is the Sayles Finishing plant.

Around this area the guardsmen, who had exchanged their pistols for guns—with orders to "shoot to kill" if necessary in self-defense—formed an impenetrable cordon.

Objective of the strikers has been to force the closing of the finishing plant, none of whose 1100 employees walked out. The management has declared it will continue operations, and 200 workers went on the day shift, unmolested, this morning.

Authorities predicted that with today's national guard re-enforcements and the proclamation of martial law there would be no further serious disturbances here. But it was feared the strikers, many of them from Massachusetts, would switch their activities to some other community.

Scenes of wildest disorder occurred throughout the night as strikers bent on sabotage repeatedly stormed the plant.

Mill gates were seized and torn down. A company gate house was pushed over. Two unsuccessful attempts were made to fire the mill.

PRINCE GEORGE AND PRINCESS ON TRIP

PARIS, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Prince George of England and Princess Marina of Greece, soon to be married, travel second class because they want to economize and enjoy it because they're in love.

The royal couple paused here today enroute to London for their marriage, which will be the most brilliant in England since the wedding of the Duke of York.

Prince George's elder brother, Edward, arrived from Munich second class. The princess, in an interview with the United Press, explained that they must economize now that they are to set up housekeeping.

UNION LEADERS PROTEST TO ROOSEVELT AGAINST USE OF WAR EQUIPMENT BY MILITIA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Union leaders sent sharp protests today to President Roosevelt and Secretary of War George H. Dern against use of war department equipment by National Guardsmen in the textile strike.

The protests came as strikers and National Guardsmen at Saylesville, R. I., engaged in a bloody riot.

The protests also were dispatched to governors of the five states where National Guardsmen are on strike duty. Senators and representatives of the affected states also were appealed to.

Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the special strike committee, said he had ascertained that in every instance the equipment used by the militia was federal property.

FITTS' OFFICE HUEY LONG IS PROBE STARTED BY GRAND JURY

Attorney General Appoints Special Attorney to Conduct Inquiry

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Given a special prosecutor to sift its evidence, the Los Angeles county grand jury today began an investigation into the conduct of its office by District Attorney Burton Fitts.

Clyde C. Shoemaker was named by Attorney General U. S. Webb to conduct the inquiry. The appointing Shoemaker was worded broadly to permit the inquiry to include virtually every phase of the private and public life of the district attorney, according to Dr. John P. Buckley, acting foreman.

In its resolution to the attorney general asking appointment of a special prosecutor, the grand jury asked:

1. A review of the "love mart" case centering in the dismissal of charges against John P. Mills, wealthy business man.

2. Examination of the handling of the district attorney's funds, especially the $17,500 secret service fund for 1933-34.

3. Examination of the personal and private business transactions of Fitts and members of his family.

In its resolution the grand jury said it wished to inquire into reported receipt of large sums of money in currency by the district attorney through alleged secret bank accounts and the connections, if any, between such alleged receipts and the dismissal of certain criminal cases at the instance of the district attorney.

Shoemaker also is special prosecutor investigating the affairs of the late California Reserve Bank, Fitts' brother-in-law, George Gregory, president of California Reserve, and 12 other former officers and employees were indicted.

FRED PERRY, BRITISH TENNIS STAR, BEATS ALLISON THREE OUT OF FIVE SETS FOR TITLE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Fred Perry of England, the world's No. 1 tennis player, today won the American National singles championship for the second consecutive year by beating Wilmer Allison of Texas, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 1-6, 8-6.

The sleek Briton now holds the head, or drop it tantalizingly just over the net.

When they came out for the fifth and final set Perry quickly ran up a 5-2 lead.

Just when it seemed he was beaten, the courageous Texan launched a counter attack that chipped away Perry's lead game by game, until finally he leveled the match at 5-all.

Allison, after a slow start gave the Englishman a tremendous battle, driving him to employ every shot that had lifted him to the top of the world's rankings. For two sets it was no contest as Allison, handicapped by the soft turf and nervousness, wielded point after point to the sure stroking Englishman.

But beginning with the third, the Texan lifted his game to a new level, and charging to the net behind every shot, beat down the champion's defense with a withering barrage of volleys and smashers.

In the fourth set Allison put the Englishman thoroughly to rout. No matter where Perry placed the ball, Allison was there to whip it back to the corners, or lob it over the Englishman's

Chief Radio Operator On Stand Today

Tells Grand Jury Officers of Ship Failed to Cooperate With Him

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Chief Radio Operator George White Rogers, who sat at his key in the smoke-filled radio room as the S. S. Morro Castle burned beneath him, told a federal inquiry today why an SOS call was not flashed until approximately half an hour after parts of the ship were burning fiercely.

"They were running around on the bridge and I can't get intelligent cooperation out of the men," Rogers quoted his first assistant as saying after being sent to the bridge for instructions.

Rogers' testimony brought out that Alagna, now under arrest in New York, had had trouble with the ship's officers, including Capt. W. W. Evans, and was going to be fired when the vessel reached New York.

"What were they afraid of in regard to this man Alagna?" asked D. N. Hoover, conducting the inquiry.

"Almost anything," "What does that mean?" "That he might jam the radio compass, jam the radio apparatus. The captain told me to report the slightest trouble. He was afraid something was going to happen. He said he understood Alagna was a dangerous person and would not touch him further than he could throw a rope."

Rogers testified that—
Smoke In Room
1. He was awakened and reached the radio room at 2:55 a. m. Smoke was in the room and he could see flames. Earlier witnesses had said the fire was burning wildly in the lounge and writing room at that time.

2. He sent his first assistant, George Alagna, to the bridge for orders. Alagna returned at 3:13 a. m. and reported he could not get intelligent cooperation.

3. At 3:15 a. m. on his own initiative, Rogers sent out an emergency "stand by" signal after hearing a ship at sea ask a land station whether a big liner was afire off the New Jersey coast.

4. The lighting system failed at 3:18 when Rogers had finished sending a second stand by message. They started the auxiliary.

5. At about 3:25 a. m. or 3:30 a. m., Rogers said, Alagna came back from his second trip to the bridge and said "Okay, send the SOS." At that time the radio room was dense with smoke, flames were crackling around Rogers' table and he was having great difficulty in working his key.

Reported Trouble
Rogers told of having trouble with certain radio operators on the ship, saying there had been a strike of operators in New York two months ago. He said Alagna and a former second officer, Barrow, were leaders in the strike which was a protest against the food. He said the two referred to were late Captain Robert Williams as "a yellow dog."

Alagna was arrested in New York yesterday after testifying before a federal grand jury.

The ship sailed finally, he said, after an agreement was signed with the line.

Barrow got drunk at Havana and was fired, he said, Rogers

CHARLES A. LEVINE COMMITS SUICIDE

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Charles A. Levine, whose individuality carried him from rags to riches and front page publicity in the trans-Atlantic flying hysteria of 1927, sat down at a table in the kitchen of a friend's home today and turned on five gas jets.

Not long before dawn, when the friend found him, the man who once hired Clarence Chamberlain to fly him from New York to Europe lay face downward across the table. He was unconscious.

At his elbow were three notes, written in ink. One asked "forgiveness" of his friend, A. J. Walter.

Another struck one of those fantastic, mysterious chords which were frequent in Levine's career. It was addressed merely to "Dede."

While the damage was slight it was believed Lindbergh would have to remain here until tomorrow, waiting on repairs. The mechanics said the spar probably cracked when one wheel locked as Lindbergh landed, causing him to ground loop.

Macon Cancels Plans to Remain South

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 12.—(UP)—The navy dirigible Macon soared over San Diego for three hours this morning on a cruise from her base at Sunnyvale.

Plans to moor tonight at Camp Kearny were cancelled when officers on the Macon radioed that the ship headed north shortly before noon. The dirigible spent last night cruising over Southern California.

FEAR IS FELT FOR SAFETY OF MISSING GIRL

Daughter of President of Pennsylvania University Gone Month

PINEDALE, Wyo., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Grave fears for the life of Virginia Ewing Gates were expressed today as authorities pressed their search for the 23-year-old daughter of Thomas S. Gates, president of the University of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Gates has not been seen or heard from since she "went for a stroll" August 10 at a "dude" ranch 40 miles northwest of Pinedale. Department of justice agents have been called in to aid other officers in an attempt to trace the Philadelphia girl's whereabouts.

Her father is a former partner of J. P. Morgan and company.

Three theories concerning her disappearance were held:

1—She became lost in the densely wooded, hilly "hole in the wall" country surrounding the ranch. She was wearing a man's shirt, corduroy trousers and moccasin boots when she left her horse with a D. C. Bar ranch hand the afternoon of August 10 and told him she was "going for a stroll."

2—She left the ranch August 10 for a pre-arranged meeting with a Philadelphia boy, Sheriff W. D. Holt of Sublette said she had been sent to Wyoming to "forget," and will notify her family in time.

3—She has, as her family has insisted, been motoring leisurely from the ranch to Philadelphia, neglecting to notify her family of her whereabouts.

The majority of those involved in the search are inclined to hold with the first theory and they fear that if she has been lost in the "hole in the wall" country since August 10, she may never be seen alive again.

NAVY PILOT CRACKS UP AT LONG BEACH

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Lt. A. C. Kivette, navy pilot, expected to join the airship Macon today with his observation plane which was damaged slightly in a crash at the municipal airport.

The plane nosed over when the brakes locked, damaging the propeller and one wing. The mishap occurred after Kivette's ship was released from the Macon as it cruised southward along the Santa Barbara channel. The flyer planned to return the plane to the Macon on the latter's return flight to Sunnyvale.

While the damage was slight it was believed Lindbergh would have to remain here until tomorrow, waiting on repairs. The mechanics said the spar probably cracked when one wheel locked as Lindbergh landed, causing him to ground loop.

LINDBERGH HELD UP BY ACCIDENT

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Mechanics working on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plane today reported a wing spar was cracked. The Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh flew here late yesterday from Kansas City.

While the damage was slight it was believed Lindbergh would have to remain here until tomorrow, waiting on repairs. The mechanics said the spar probably cracked when one wheel locked as Lindbergh landed, causing him to ground loop.

CLOUDSLEY IS CHOSEN AS SPEAKER

Stockton Man Elected to Fill Vacancy Caused By Little Resignation

BATTLE IS AVERTED

Elections Conducted Harmoniously; Harry Riley, Named Speaker Pro Tem

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 12.—(UP)—California's 50th state legislature convened in special session today to consider special relief measures proposed by Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

First actual business occurred in the assembly, where F. C. Cloudsley, Stockton, was elected speaker, replacing Walter J. Little, Santa Monica, who resigned sometime ago. Harry H. Riley, Long Beach, was elected speaker pro tem, succeeding Cloudsley.

A threatened fight over the speaker's position failed to materialize, and the elections were conducted harmoniously. Cloudsley and Riley being the only assemblymen nominated for the respective positions.

Merriam made a late addition to his special session proclamation, proposing that the legislature act upon a concurrent resolution setting up a joint legislative committee to study the subject of unemployment insurance, reporting its recommendations to the next regular session, in January.

Limited by law to consideration only of topics specified by the governor, the law-makers will be asked to:

1. Approve submission of a $24,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue to the voters in the November election, with grants to be made directly to counties.

2. Declare moratoria on foreclosures of mortgages and deeds of trust and on defaults of contracts by purchase.

3. Aid delinquent taxpayers by extending the period for redemption, reducing penalties and postponing times for sale of delinquent properties.

4. Memorialize congress to pass

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(UP)—The Du Pont company of Delaware made gross sales amounting to $1,245,000,000 during the World war, the senate munitions investigation committee was told today.

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Theodore Taney, general manager of the Central Airlines, was killed today when an airplane in which he was transporting tar gas bombs crashed in the Tuscarora mountains, west of here.

FOREST CITY, N. C., Sept. 12.—(UP)—B. D. Little, cotton buyer for the Forest Mills here and son of the president of the mills, was wounded critically late today when a revolver in the holster of B. A. Stalmaker, guard at the mill gate, discharged accidentally.

SCORES HURT AS STRIKERS STAGE RIOTS

for at least another month of the labor-capital struggle.

With their time limit for arbitration expired and serious violence developing in New England, Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the United Textile Workers special strike committee, said:

"We are not preparing for at least a month of struggle to win the textile strike."

He telegraphed President Roosevelt urging him to advise governors of textile states to use troops in "a strictly impartial manner."

National guardsmen are out in five states.

"We know that there is no need whatever in any case for state troops, and we protest most vigorously their use as aids to strike breakers," Gorman wired the president.

Adequate funds for carrying on the strike, due to American Federation of Labor co-operation, appeared assured as union leaders drafted plans for a prolonged walkout.

The federal mediation board met with manufacturers here again today in an attempt to unshar the arbitration wrangle.

The strike chieftains hailed as their first concrete strike victory the signing of a contract between the United Textile Workers and the Rayon Weavers, Inc., of New Bedford, Mass. The latter concern, employing only 80 persons, agreed to all union demands, including a 30-hour week, minimum wages ranging from $13 to $30 and recognition of the union, leaders said.

Nathan Ruddock Rites Tomorrow

FULLERTON, Sept. 12.—Nathan Samuel Ruddock, 90, a Civil war veteran, and father of Mrs. May Ella Smith and Mrs. Grace E. Davis, of Fullerton, died yesterday at his home at Redondo Beach.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of McAulay and Suters of Fullerton and services will be held at the funeral home at 10 a. m. Thursday, with the Rev. E. J. Stetson, of Upland, formerly, of Fullerton Presbyterian church, in charge.

Other survivors are two sons, D. J. Ruddock, of Pindley, and Leon E. Ruddock, of Los Angeles.

GIRLS' TEAM TO MEET ANTLERS IN DONKEY BALL

Members of the Santa Ana Antlers team which will attempt to end the string of victories to the credit of the Occidental College Girls' team in the first of a double-header Donkey Baseball game Thursday night at Santa Ana Bowl were announced today by Don Jerome, chairman of the Elks committee in charge of the event, which is co-sponsored by the Elks and Scouts for the benefit of their charity funds.

The Antlers team which will meet the college girls in the hillarious game includes Dave Styling, Walt Hendrie, LeRoy Levens, O. Patmor, H. Benson, D. Parks, Earl Cunningham and Dan Parks, while utility players are Fred Weimer, Madden Dietrich and Ribert Bradeagard.

The second game Thursday night will be played between teams picked from officers and prominent members of the Elks and Scouts. Thursday night's games mark the opening of a season engagement of the Donkey Baseball games which entertained thousands here in June. Better trained than before, the mules and donkeys used in the games are expected to provide even more hilarity than before. Games will be played Friday and Saturday nights between teams to be announced later.

All players in the games are mounted on mules and donkeys, the same ones used in many moving pictures except pitcher, batter and catcher. Each batter, on making a hit, will leap astride his mount in an effort to make a circuit of the bases. Players on the defense can dismount to make a catch, but must not throw the ball for a putout until remounted.

went aboard as second officer and when Pearson, chief operator, quit the ship Rogers became chief operator.

Talks To Captain

Things went smoothly for a trip or two, he said, and then, on the Morro Castle's last trip, one morning Captain Willmott talked to him about Alagna.

"Captain Willmott called me to the bridge. 'What's the matter with this man Alagna,' the captain said. 'I think he's crazy. We've always had trouble with him.'"

"I didn't know it was all about but the captain told me of trouble Alagna had caused over landing passes and trouble he was always starting with customs officers when he refused to obey certain regulations. Captain Willmott told me at that time, 'I want you to get rid of Alagna when we get to New York. I also want you to take the key to the emergency radio room and not let Alagna get to it. I don't trust him at all.'"

"The captain also told me that he feared that Alagna would try to damage the radio compass or sending equipment. That was on this last voyage."

Roberts said the captain told him of an altercation between Alagna and the mate which led to bad feelings. The mate was acting Captain W. F. Warms, in charge of the vessel at the time of the fire and whom Alagna alleged he could not get to give out the SOS order.

One of the most photographed girls in England, Miss Betty Spurling, has had her smile insured for $5000.

TRAINING FOR DONKEY GAME

COMMITTEE TO PLAN ECONOMY IN C. C. NAMED

Forced to a program of economy by reduced membership income, the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce directors set the economy wheels in motion today with the appointment of a committee of three to outline a proposed reduced-cost operating plan, to report at next Wednesday's meeting of the board.

The committee, as named by President J. P. Baumgartner, consists of R. B. Newcom, W. H. Spurgeon and James N. Harding, representing both the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Division boards, which were in point session today.

The duties of the committee, as outlined by Baumgartner, are to negotiate for a successor to Secretary George Raymer, whose resignation becomes effective October 1, and propose a plan for reducing the personnel of the office. Several directors expressed the view the office should be operated at the present time by a secretary and one office assistant.

Post Uncertain

Whether or not A. Cavalli, secretary of the Merchants Division should be retained as acting secretary, or an entirely new outside secretary should be chosen, will be one of the problems to be considered by the special committee.

The finance committee was also instructed to prepare a complete balance sheet of the Chamber for presentation at next week's directors' meeting, so that all directors may be fully informed of the present condition of the body.

Appointment of the special economy committee was ordered following presentation of a partial financial report, showing anticipated revenues for September, October, November and December as falling far short of the chamber's expenses as now constituted, which Baumgartner characterized as "unreasonably large."

The report, as presented by Raymer, showed anticipated income from membership dues of $501.25 for the C. C. and $91.25 from the Merchants' Division up to October 1, with a further income of $326.50 from the chamber and $84.67 from the Merchants' Division up to January 1, a grand total of $1002.67 for the four months' period.

Salaries Take Income

It was brought out at the meeting that $200 will be due Raymer for September salary, $100 as return of sums he advanced in the past to pay office help, and $405 as one-half of back salary two or three years ago when he worked without salary for a four months' period, a total of $705. Other office salaries, it was pointed out, will bring the total obligations of the chamber, by the end of September, to approximately the total income anticipated for the next four months' period.

The report showed 181 memberships in the Chamber of Commerce at $12 per year, one at $15 per year, and 61 at $25 per year, total of 243 members. Income for the year 1934 was given as $3725 from membership dues and $1174 contributed to the service fund by 15 members.

In pointing out the necessity of curtailment of expense, Director T. E. Stephenson said that present salaries total $6480 per year while the present membership income is only $5800.

25 Millions in

Taxes Recovered

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(UP)—The federal government revealed today it was recovering approximately $25,000,000 in its tax drive against brokers and stock market traders.

Recovery of taxes was begun last October when the bureau of internal revenue started a campaign to obtain from brokers and other agents information on customers accounts to assist in determining gains or losses from stock transactions since 1929.

Require Filing Of New Complaint To Get Testimony

Jose Arrellano, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was bound over to the superior court in the Santa Ana justice court today, following the dismissal of one complaint and the filing of a new one by Deputy District Attorney J. Eugene Walker.

In the first action Ruben Rodriguez testified for the state and Walker closed his case. When he desired to introduce further testimony, he was required to dismiss the first complaint, file a new one and then call for more testimony. Magdalena Rodriguez de Gaeles was the second witness.

Acting Judge Chris Pann set bail at $500. The action arose out of a fight in Delhi in which Arrellano is alleged to have struck Rodriguez.

FILM SPEAKER TO ADDRESS LIONS

L. E. Chadwick, president of the Chadwick Pictures Corporation, and NRA code authority representing the Independent Motion Picture Producers, will be the featured speaker of the Santa Ana Lions club tomorrow noon at James cafe, it was announced today by Dale Decker, program director for the club.

Lola Marie Harmon, who has appeared in several motion pictures, will entertain with several musical numbers.

Chadwick has been a tremendous force in the field of independent film production for many years, it is said, and his talk is looked forward to with great interest.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS MISSING AIRPLANE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Mystery shrouded the whereabouts of Murray B. Dilley, army pilot, today, nearly 24 hours after he left Union Air terminal in his Vance "flying wing," possibly to attempt a non-stop distance record.

Dilley, who is attached to March field, took off without revealing his destination. The flight was regarded at first as a test venture, but when the hours elapsed without his return, friends recalled that he said he would disguise the start of his planned record hop.

So far as caretakers of the plane knew Dilley had only 225 gallons of fuel in his tanks which have a capacity of 1176 gallons.

In order to establish a new distance record, the pilot would have to reach Europe from here. His original plans called for such an attempt, or as an alternative, a flight from Honolulu to Newfoundland.

REPUBLICAN CLUB
PLEDGES SUPPORT

The Republican club of Orange county pledged its support to all party nominees for state office, in a resolution adopted by the executive committee in session at James cafe, Santa Ana, according to announcement today by George E. Bradley, secretary.

The committee decided to hold meetings of the officers and executive committee once a week between now and the November election, and two meetings of the club as a whole during the first and last weeks of October.

Officers and members of the executive committee of the club are: A. M. Drumm, Santa Ana, president; Charles Pearson, Anaheim; John Reynolds, Brea; Leonard West, Fullerton; Charles Lake, Garden Grove; Walter Spicer, Newport Beach; Paul Muench, Orange; and Lynn A. Hart, Santa Ana, all vice-presidents; George E. Bradley, Santa Ana, treasurer; Roy N. Edwards, Orange, treasurer; executive committee: Burd Wing, Orange; Herb Eldred, Anaheim; Homer Chaney, Santa Ana; W. F. Croddy, Santa Ana; William Brady, Garden Grove.

EVIDENCE IS PRESENTED AT ARMS HEARING

"We also suggest that you approach the navy on this subject and obtaining a list of navy trained pilots who may be available for such work as we at times have occasion to send out airplanes on floats."

After declaring that Merino had been responsible for "all our business in Chile," C. W. Webster, Latin-American chief of the Curtiss firm, wrote the Washington office on March 11, 1931:

"It is up to us to lean over backward in selling Merino American ideas, methods and equipment . . ."

"If possible we would like to have you arrange for permission for him to visit various army and navy stations and have him meet the army and navy secretaries, and if possible President Hoover. This seems advisable and necessary in order to offset the efforts of the Prince of Wales."

Previously evidence was presented that the Curtiss corporation in April, 1933, planned to place false labels on equipment meant for shipment to Peru because the Grace Line steamship company had refused to transport war materials while Peru and Colombia were involved in the Leticia dispute.

A letter from S. J. Abelow, of the export corporation to the firm's Peruvian agent, dated April 15, 1933, suggested labeling engine parts as "internal combustion parts," and placing the name "spark plugs" on other equipment. Such a plan the letter said, would "throw the steamship company off the track."

Made Suggestion

It was testified that the Curtiss organization suggested to former Assistant Secretary of Navy David Ingalls, that an American aircraft carrier be sent to South America with Curtiss airplanes aboard designed for shipment to South American companies. Such a plan, the company said would offset a similar British expedition.

"Was Mr. Ingalls sympathetic," Nye asked.

"I don't know," Allard replied. The suggestion was made in September, 1930, and Allard said it was not adopted.

"The visit of the Prince of Wales to South America tended to shift sales to Europe didn't it?" Nye asked.

"That implication might be put on it," Webster replied.

"Then there was an advantage in having officials here be nice to Merino?"

"Yes," Webster said.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the United States army, was mentioned in a Curtiss company letter as having "apparently talked up American military equipment to the skies" in discussions he had with the Turkish general staff while on a visit to Turkey in 1932.

The letter said MacArthur was received with "great pomp" in Turkish official circles.

is concentrated. Long candidates were uniformly successful.

Olin D. Johnson, lawyer who started his career at a textile mill loom, won a run-off nomination for governor in South Carolina against Cole Blease, former governor and senator. Nomination assures election in that state.

Sen. Henry F. Ashurst, D. Ariz., and Rep. Isabella Greenway, D. Ariz., an intimate friend of the Roosevelt family, appear to have been safely renominated. Republicans will nominate later by convention.

Sen. Warren R. Austin, R. Vt., was easily renominated. The Democratic nominations were uncontested.

Contest for Democratic nomination to the senate in Washington was close. Sen. C. C. Dill, whose term expired, did not run. John C. Stevenson, Seattle, whose opponents charged he was a "left winger" had a small lead in early returns over Lewis Schwellenbach and Judge Charles Leavy. The Democratic primary vote was far in excess of Republican totals.

Reno Odlin, Olympia banker, was leading two other candidates for Washington's Republican senatorial nomination. All of Washington's six Democratic congressmen appear to have been renominated.

Georgia and Maryland primaries take place tomorrow.

ASKS $50,407 FOR DEATH IN ACCIDENT

Suit for $50,407.50 damages was filed today in superior court against Earl Goodrum, automobile salesman, and George Dunton, his employer, for the death of Lee Jacob Daniel, Anaheim boy, who was killed in a crash between his car and a machine driven by Goodrum last April 12.

Louis Daniel, father of the victim, was plaintiff in the damage action. The accident took place at Placentia avenue and Cypress, Anaheim.

The board late yesterday granted a dance hall license to James P. Trigg of Sunset Beach.

HUSBANDS TO BE CALLED AT FARM PICNIC

"O-o-o-h-h-h-h H-e-n-n-e-r-y-y!"

"Yoooo Hooooo, H-e-n-n-e-r-y-y!"

Not a hog calling contest, but a husband calling contest, will be the feature event of the annual picnic of the Orange County Farm Bureau, scheduled at Irvine park, September 22.

The farm bureau ladies will demonstrate which has the most attentive husband—attentive from the greatest distance—as one of two stunts to be arranged by the home department, headed by Mrs. L. A. Bortz, of Olive.

A basket lunch will be served at 12:30, and farm center presidents have named committees to wait upon table.

The 4-H club council, headed by Dick Launer of La Habra, will have charge of a program of boys' and girls' sports from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

President R. H. Blackburn of the state farm bureau federation will be the speaker of the day, discussing problems of agriculture under emergency conditions today, and what organized agriculture is doing to meet them.

Several years ago, a petrified bird's nest, containing petrified eggs, was found near the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

SAFETY SCHOOL SCHEDULED FOR BUILDER GROUP BY DEMOCRATS

A "Safety School" to assist in preventing industrial accidents during construction operations will be launched in Santa Ana Tuesday evening especially for building contractors and their employees, it was announced today by Frederic Sanford, secretary-manager of the Orange County Builders Exchange.

The school will continue two nights, Tuesday, Sept. 18 and Tuesday, Sept. 25, Sanford said, and will be conducted by William A. Wilson of Los Angeles, member of the California Industrial Accident Commission, as a part of the state-wide campaign for the elimination of preventable accidents.

A playlet, staged under Wilson's direction at the Builders Exchange meeting last night at the El Patio cafe in Fullerton, indicated to the building group some of the essentials of safety work, and showed how new employees should be instructed in order to prevent accidents.

An explanation of the new Federal housing act was given at the meeting by Glenn B. Gossett, of the First National Trust and Savings association of Fullerton, who urged that bankers were anxious to make housing loans under the new act and that contractors take full advantage of its provisions.

Reports of the recent convention were given by I. W. McFarland and Secretary-Manager Sanford.

President Cal Gilbert presided at the business session of the group, with W. F. Sorenson, chairman of the accident prevention committee, in charge of the evening's safety program.

BOARD URGES REMITTANCE OF RELIEF LOAN

Concerned over the fact that the final loan of $181,011 from state unemployment relief bond money has not arrived in Orange county after having been applied for for several months, members of the Orange county SERRA committee yesterday afternoon authorized Chairman J. K. McDonald to write state authorities, urging that the funds be sent here without delay.

Orange county still has $193,903 in state bond money which has not been expended. It was brought out at the meeting yesterday, and because of this reason state authorities believe it better that the money not be sent there until the fund on hand is exhausted.

Members of the committee fear that other counties will get the money if it is not obtained by Orange county in the near future.

$85,000 Monthly

Planning to meet the relief needs of the county during the winter months, Director Terrence H. Halloran told members of the committee at the meeting that he estimates it will take a minimum of $85,000 a month from October on to care for the unemployed in Orange county on a work relief program.

The quota for this month is $53,000 for work relief. Cases are gradually increasing as seasonal employment dwindles off, it was reported. Now there are 2504 persons which represent the case load in the county. This is expected to increase greatly in October, and Miss Helen Cox, head of the direct relief department, estimated that there will be 409 additional cases this month. She asked for more visitors to help with the work.

Halloran said the policy of the SERRA in Orange county will be to attempt to meet the needs of those unemployed by reviewing their budgets at various times and to raise them if necessary. He pointed out that needs of families do not remain constant, and that at this time many families are in need of clothing for their children for school. No provision is made in either the direct relief or work relief programs for furnishing clothing for needy families.

Ask More Funds

The committee addressed a letter to the board of supervisors, asking that another $25,000 be set aside for direct relief work during the following month or more.

Halloran announced that a total of $88,579.59 has been expended on work relief and administration so far in the SERRA program in the county out of a total of $302,112.19 in projects approved by state authorities.

He also announced that the CCC camps now are under the jurisdiction of SERRA and not the county welfare department. While the quota for this section now is filled, an increase in the quota is expected. No boy who has served an enlistment is eligible for another term.

SINCLAIR MAN MADE MANAGER

The Orange County Democratic Central committee organized late yesterday, remained silent upon questions of policy, including endorsement of state candidates, and turned management of the campaign over to Harry Gerhart, leading Sinclair adherent on the committee and Sinclair manager in the county during the primary, who was on the slate agreed upon at a caucus held previously by those who had opposed Sinclair.

The Republican Central committee, also meeting for organization yesterday, re-elected Howard Irwin of Fullerton chairman and Milburn G. Harvey of Santa Ana secretary.

Gerhart was made treasurer and campaign manager of the Democratic committee by unanimous vote, after he had been successfully defeated for the chairmanship by the incumbent, Judge J. G. Mitchell, on a vote of 14 to 9, and for the office of secretary by Dan O'Hanlon on a 15 to 8 vote, carrying out the plan adopted at the previous caucus.

Otto M. Roddeck, of Orange, was elected vice chairman by unanimous vote. Jules Markel, Santa Ana, was unanimously recommended for appointment to the state central committee.

Following his selection as campaign manager, Gerhart made a short talk, urging united and harmonious support of the candidacy of Upton Sinclair, the party's nominee for governor. He pointed out the evident harmony existing between Sinclair and President Roosevelt and other leaders of the national administration, as shown by Sinclair's recent capital at Hyde Park and the policies.

Fear of Sinclair's policies and plan in some quarters is unfounded, he declared. Sinclair and President Roosevelt are working similarly toward similar objectives, he said. Now that the Democratic party has, for the first time in its history, a chance to win the governorship of California, it needs only united support of the nominee to realize that goal, Gerhart declared. He took note of the fact that "some prominent Democrats have united with prominent Republicans in a move to injure and defeat President Roosevelt, and appealed for all Democrats to stand by the president and Sinclair."

Jules Markel moved that the assembly of nominees, H. F. Kenny, of the 74th district, and C. R. Allen, of the 75th district, be allowed to vote at the organization meeting, pending a ruling from the state committee as to such right in future meetings, and the motion carried.

H. C. Head, veteran member of the committee, spoke briefly after organization had been completed, urging that no campaign plans be made until after the state central committee meeting September 20, and that no endorsements or policies be announced until after the state committee expresses itself.

Head, like Gerhart, expressed the hope for a united and harmonious front in the campaign, noting that for the first time, the Democratic party had a chance to win state control.

The Republican central committee was in session at the same hour in another part of the courthouse, holding a brief, harmonious "love feast," and adjourned after retaining most of its former officers, with several new members in vice-chairmanships.

Howard Irwin, of Fullerton, was re-elected chairman, and M. G. Harvey, of Santa Ana, was re-elected secretary, with E. R. Kolbe, Santa Ana, as assistant secretary. Vice-chairmen were elected as follows: first district, W. C. May; second district, R. Haster; third district, J. B. Horner; fourth district, Ivan Swanger; fifth district, C. E. C. Burnett.

The committee recommended W. B. Williams, P. A. Stanton, J. F. Craemer, Warren Bradford, Leslie Kimmel, Joel Ogle, Ray Lambert and Dr. Glenn Curtis from which one is to be chosen for appointment to the state central committee.

Crusaders Meet

At Mesa Church

COSTA MESA, Sept. 12.—Crusaders of the local Foursquare church were hosts to the Crusaders of all the Foursquare churches of Orange county at a rally held in the church here this week. Delegations from Huntington Beach, Fullerton, Anaheim, Garden Grove, Orange, Santa Ana, and La Habra were present. The Rev. W. Athens, of Los Angeles, delivered the chief message of the day. Special musical selections were given by the girls' sextette and various groups of visiting members. Mrs. G. C. Smalley is senior counselor of the Crusaders.

PARENTS ASK PROTECTION OF CHILDREN; CHARGE LIQUOR SALE TO MINORS, IMMORALITY

Conditions declared to exist in a building close to Logan school, where liquor is said to be sold to minors, and general immorality is so flagrant that the welfare of children in the neighborhood is menaced, brought a delegation of Mexican parents from the neighborhood before the board of education last night, with the result that the board will ask the city council to act in the matter.

A petition was presented signed by 40 Mexican residents of the Logan street district, many of whom appeared in person, with Lucas Lucio, local Mexican consular representative. Several of them told of conditions existing at the place mentioned.

Open ribaldry, immorality and disturbances, particularly on Saturday nights and Sundays, were described. The parents said they no longer dared send their children past the place, to the store beyond. They were greatly worried at the prospect of having their children pass daily on their way to and from school, which was less than half a block from the objectionable place.

The board decided to send a letter to the city council asking that body to do whatever is possible to remove the nuisance, because of its proximity to the Logan school. W. M. Burke, board member, promised the Mexican delegation that he would appear before the council on the matter next Monday evening, and urged them also to attend.

Three paroles were granted yesterday by the county parole board, including the release of Mrs. Joste Eberguerry, of San Juan Capistrano, who was sentenced to six months in jail following the sensational discovery that she had been keeping one of her children, Mary, 7, in a chicken coop because she thought the child "bewitched."

Mrs. Eberguerry had served 99 days of her 130 day term when she returned to her family. The little girl has been placed in a private home in Costa Mesa and probably will not be returned to her original home, according to the district attorney's office. The child was brought to the county hospital in a filthy and emaciated condition and her mother held on to custody charges.

The two others paroled were Kenneth Kniesche, serving a 100-day sentence for drunken driving, and Emilio Rodriguez, serving a six month sentence for simple assault. Kniesche served 86 days, Rodriguez served 103 days.

Attendance Officer Of Schools Dies

Coming as a shock to his many friends throughout the county was the death at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday of Schuyler Bigelow Jr., 31, attendance supervisor of the Orange county public schools.

Death came following a week's illness due to poisoning of the blood stream, technically known as natural septicemia.

He was born in Westmoreland, Kansas, and had lived in California for 18 years. He was a graduate of the Santa Ana Junior college and Stanford university, and for the past eight years has been employed in the county school superintendent's office, the last two years as attendance officer.

For the past year, he had resided with his wife in a new home which they built at Laguna Beach.

He leaves besides his widow, Vivian Matheny Bigelow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Bigelow sr., and sister, Virginia, living on Holt avenue, Tustin.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Winbinger chapel, with the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, of which deceased was a member, in charge.

TO CALL BIDS ON NEW JAYCEE MUSIC BUILDING

Bids will be asked informally by the board of education on labor for the construction of a junior college music building, to cost not more than $1000, it was decided at the board meeting last night.

The labor was estimated at $595 in an estimate of the entire cost of the structure, submitted by Jules Markel, local contractor, who also prepared plans and specifications at the request of the board.

The board expects to award the job on a basis of labor only, the school to be salvaged from demolished school buildings. Secretary George Newcom was instructed to obtain several bids on labor.

The building will be located on the administration building grounds, North Main street, instead of the junior college campus, the board fearing that a building of such cheap construction would not look well on the campus. It will be 30 by 40 feet in dimensions, one story in height, with a stucco exterior.

The state board of school reconstruction, through which Greene bill funds were obtained for local schools, will open bids on the Spurgeon school reconstruction project next Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the board of education offices. It was announced last night. The local board will be present, though having no connection with the awarding of the contract.

of his term while Rodriguez had served 103 days.

PERMITS FOR 3 NEW HOMES AT LAGUNA ISSUED

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 12.—Building permits totaling $7500 were issued today by City Building Inspector Floyd Case for the construction of residences in the south section of the city.

Included in the permits were two to the Consolidated Mortgage company, Los Angeles, for the erection of an eight-room dwelling at 181 Rockledge road at an estimated cost of $2450, and a six-room home at 121 Rockledge road at a cost of $2400. Contracts for both projects have been let to H. D. Baker, Rockledge road forms part of the exclusive Victoria drive section.

Another permit was issued to the Misses Edith and Eva Johnson for the erection of a five-room residence at 1063 Temple terrace, at an estimated cost of $2000. Contract for the work has been awarded to Taylor Brothers.

The remaining permits were for additions and alterations to existing structures.

Coupled with reports of projected building activities, still in the hands of the architects, it was learned that a well-known Hollywood restaurant concern is seeking a location in the south section of the city for a high-class cafe, and modeled in appointments and service after like places in Hollywood, Santa Barbara, Palm Springs and other fashionable centers.

CITRUS WORKER MEETS DEATH UNDER TRUCK

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the Hilgenfeld funeral home in Anaheim for Irving C. Long, 49, fumigator, Forba Linda, who was accidentally killed near his home yesterday when he fell from a fumigating truck and was crushed under one of the wheels.

The death of Long was the first since August 19 and brought the total of auto-cides in the county this year to 39, nine more than this time last year.

Long died in the Anaheim hospital shortly after he was injured by the truck, which was owned by the Gilman Brothers Spraying company. An inquest was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Coroner Earl Abbey from the Hilgenfeld mortuary.

Long had lived in California for 30 years and in Forba Linda four years. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Long, Anaheim; one brother, William J. Long Jr., Forba Linda, and one sister, Mrs. Robert C. Walker, Washington.

TELLS CLUBMEN
SPORTS PAGES
INSPIRATIONAL

Businessmen, reading about disasters, murders, and depressions on the first page of newspapers, need to turn to the sports page for inspiration and enthusiasm which will enable them to play a "heads up" game of business.

Introduced by Program Chairman Alex Brownridge, McCord spoke on "Inspiration from the Sports Page," urging his hearers to put the same enthusiasm into their work as displayed by athletes in various contests.

"How many people would come to see Southern California play Notre Dame if all the players came on the field with heads hung down the way many businessmen go to work in depression days?" he asked.

"Business men can learn from the sports pages," he continued. "An outstanding trait of athletes is enthusiasm. One auto manufacturer told his salesmen to be 'absolutely enthusiastic' about the car. Football players put on a show; they are enthusiastic or the crowd is disappointed. Ty Cobb had slumps, but he knew that they were sure to come in a few games ahead. The law of averages works in both athletics and business."

"Babe Ruth batted out 25 times recently but the twenty-third time he poled the ball over the fence. Every man has a few bad days coming, but not all days are bad."

"Keep your heads up," said the coach to tired players. "Get a rubdown, and then go back to play a 'heads up' game."

Most athletes have learned by hard work and not by special talent, McCord pointed out. He said Tilden worked years before he won a championship. Tunney fought with a broken hand; and Dempsey was a second rater.

"But their handicaps didn't stop them," the speaker said. "Warburton's fighting spirit makes him a great football player. He can't be whipped. He gets into a tough spot, and doesn't ask to be taken out. He knows if he carries the ball enough times he will make the gains."

"Athletes are hustlers. Businessmen ought to be. An athlete has good luck when he works hard enough. Certain slogans of the athlete are: 'It can be done'; 'I'm not licked yet'; 'Work hard enough to have good luck.'"

There is lots of bright sunshine in California, and in business as well as athletics, McCord declared. "We're not licked yet in business if we are out to win, like athletes, with enthusiasm, hustle, and hard work," he said.

Politically
Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Forces supporting Upton Sinclair, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, are resting on their oars momentarily awaiting the return of the former socialist from Hyde Park, N. Y., where he visited President Roosevelt for an informal chat.

The embarrassment which descended upon California Democrats the night of the primary has spread to Washington and has not diminished in this state, where regular party members are in a quandary, hardly knowing what to do about the November fight.

Sinclair did not discuss politics, openly, with the president. National administration leaders tactfully have refrained from entering the California battle. They must of necessity recognize Sinclair, but they feared a serious split as the result of his nomination.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam and Raymond L. Haight, meanwhile, were organizing their campaigns for the most intensive political contest the state has witnessed in many years. Haight has been campaigning steadily since the primary, seeking to capture a large share of the votes which were given candidates other than Merriam and Sinclair.

His backers figured he would draw heavily from supporters of John R. Quinn and would split the C. C. Young vote with Merriam. From the Democratic side, he expected to win support from the George Creel camp and from other Bourbons who will not swing so far to the left as to vote for Sinclair.

Merriam talked to newspaper publishers at the state fair, urging them to follow the middle course, rather than swinging to right or left. Haight supporters were gleeful about that, because from the start of the November contest, Haight has pictured himself as the "middle of the road" candidate, with Sinclair representing the extreme left, or radical, and Merriam the extreme right, or reactionary, element.

In his speech, however, Merriam indicated that he was on the ship of state that was laboring to sail the center lane, steering clear of rocks to right and left.

Election of the state legislature took on an added significance in view of Sinclair's strength. Without support of the lawmaking bodies, Sinclair could hope to achieve few of his aims which necessitate legislative action.

A majority of the 193 legislature will be unchanged from that of last year. Twenty of the senators were not up for re-election and will return en masse. Eleven of the other 20 were renominated and nine have no opposition in November. That means at least 29 and possibly 31 of the 1933 will return.

Fifty out of 80 Assemblymen were renominated. Twenty-six of these will be unopposed in November. If 15 others win their contest, more than half of the 1933 assembly will return to the capitol in January.

Considerable interest revolved about this situation, and it was believed generally that Sinclair would have difficulty with the legislature, should he be elected governor.

The party convention here September 20 and central committee meetings September 29 will have much to do toward determining Democratic and Republican courses.

Young Lads Bound
For Ohio Detained

ORANGE, Sept. 12.—Three young boys were brought to the Orange police station Tuesday following a call made by Louis Baier, who telephoned from the Barger filling station that the trio had told him that they were on their way to Cleveland, Ohio, and that they expected to live on oranges during the entire trip.

The boys, Walter Hahn, 15; Bob Hahn, 13, and Willard, 9, told a pitiful story of their mother in Cleveland in July and of their being sent to Long Beach to stay with their father, who, they declared, was not good to them. The boys were taken to the juvenile home in Santa Ana.

VETERAN REBEKAHS
HOLD SCHOOL PARTY

ORANGE, Sept. 12.—A novel and interesting meeting of the Veteran Rebekahs was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eva Dewey, 711 West Chapman avenue, when members came dressed in costume typical of those worn when they attended grade school.

With Mrs. Claudia Windolph acting as teacher, the afternoon was devoted to an old fashioned school entertainment and at a late hour "bag lunches" were served.

During a business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Ida Campbell, vice president, in the absence of Mrs. Abbie Gould president, it was announced that the next meeting would be an initiation to be held October 1 in the Odd Fellows' hall.

Miss Edith Winterdahl, Mrs. N. Dale and Mrs. Anna Holtheussen were appointed as the committee in charge of the arrangements.

MRS. F. A. BLAKE IS
SECTION HOSTESS

ORANGE, Sept. 12.—Mrs. A. F. Blake was hostess to members of the Second economic section of the Orange Woman's club Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. George Bartley as co-hostess. Mrs. Ray McCarthy presided at the business session in the place of Mrs. Arthur Fullerton who is at Lake Arrowhead.

Cards were played in the afternoon following a covered dish luncheon, with high and second scores in contact going to Mrs. Guy Richards and Mrs. C. C. DIRECTORS FOR
W. C. T. U. WORK
ARE APPOINTED

ORANGE, Sept. 12.—Department directors were appointed at a meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Minnie Neville presided and announced the appointments of the following:

Evangelistic director, Mrs. J. E. Park; flower mission, Mrs. H. M. Elliott; medical temperance and scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess; motion pictures and social morality, Mrs. Neville and Union Signal and Young Crusader, Mrs. Angeline Courtney. The appointment of a Sunday school director was deferred until the next meeting.

Reports of departments were given revealing a satisfactory progress in each. Mrs. M. Bastido, prominent W. C. T. U. worker of Redlands, was present and gave a short talk. Mrs. Bastido is the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. George Liming. Roll call was answered with items from the Union Signal.

Devotional services were conducted by Mrs. J. E. Park, who spoke from the topic, "What we have to be thankful for." It was decided to hold meetings of the union but once monthly instead of twice, and the date of the meeting was set for the second Tuesday of each month.

MRS. ANNIE LAURIE
BIRTHDAY HONOREE

ORANGE, Sept. 12.—Compiling Mrs. Annie Laurie, Mrs. Gladys McDonald and Mrs. Mabel Elliott were co-hostesses Monday evening at the former's home, 192 South Center street at a birthday party. Bouquets of late summer flowers brightened the home for the occasion, which was devoted to the playing of "500". High and second high scores were made by Mrs. Grace Deck and Mrs. Sarah Gorr, while Mrs. Sarah Taber was consoled. Each was presented with a lovely gift by the hostesses.

At a late hour guests were asked to find their places around a daintily appointed table, emphasizing a pink and green motif in decorations, with a large bouquet of pink petunias centering the table. Nut cups and favors were of green. At the close of the delicious repast, Mrs. Laurie was presented with a beautiful table lamp.

TEACHING DUTIES

ORANGE, Sept. 12.—A graduate of the grammar schools and high school of this city, Lawrence Archibald, began his duties this week as one of the instructors in the mechanical arts department at the Orange union high school. Archibald graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1933.

While in college Archibald majored in mechanical arts. He was a member of the professional honorary fraternity, Iota Delta Alpha, serving as secretary during his junior year and as president during his senior year.

Archibald is the first new member of the staff in a period of about eight years.

ORANGE, Sept. 12.—Members of the 20-30 club defeated Lions and Elks by a score of 4 to 3 at the donkey ball game played at the city park last night. C. H. Robinson was official announcer and Forest Talmadge was score keeper.

The Lions and Elks lineup was as follows: Edgar Marks, c.; Clarence Corcoran, p.; Roy Edwards, 1b.; Ralph Boon, 2b.; Lorin Muench, 3b.; Charles Dyer, ss.; Boyd Meyer, rf.; George Bartley, cf.; Al Graves, lf.; J

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

LOOSE Merits and evils of the parole system as a crime deterrent have been argued pro and con for years. Sociologists and law-enforcement officers disagree, sometimes heatedly.

It remained for the most recent roundup of Dillinger mobsters to revive the debate amply. Among those apprehended was Dr. Wilhelm Looser. He is one of the two Chicago physicians charged with having "lured" the faces of John Dillinger and Homer Van Meter in a vain effort to save those merry murderers from interviews by the firing squad.

Looser was on parole at the time of his arrest. Furthermore, he had been a parole violator—in that he had ceased reporting to the Chicago probation officer—for four months.

In April, 1930, Dr. Looser was arrested for violation of the narcotics laws on eight counts. An informer had made four "buys" of dope in his office, each increasingly larger. Looser advised the informer on one occasion to secrete the dope under one of his spats, and ushered him out a side door to avoid detection. It was not until June, 1931, that he was brought to trial. A jury found him guilty and he was sentenced to three years and a $1 fine on each of the eight counts. The judge stipulated, however, the sentences were to run concurrently, which nominally meant three years in quod and a fine of $8.

Looser, as is customary, filed a parole petition immediately upon entering the penitentiary. Federal Commissioner of Narcotics Harry Anslinger, after reviewing the case, recommended to the parole board that it be denied.

POINT

Nevertheless, Looser was paroled in December, 1932. Recent advices from Chicago stated Louis Plouffe, Dillinger lawyer and alleged "brains" of the mob, engineered the slip-out.

The Narcotics Bureau was not even aware of the release of this underworld pick-up again for raising a Dillinger eyebrow.

The parole board never advises an enforcement agency when a person imprisoned by it is set free prematurely. Even when such a prisoner violates his parole the probation officer does not go to the federal district office which made the original case against him. The local police are requested to pick him up.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation, had chafed under his parole secrecy equally with his colleagues in other departments. In a speech before a recent meeting of the bar association Hoover complained bitterly about parole laxity.

Sociologists and the parole board contend that a man would be hounded from the prison gates if those who had arrested him were informed of the departure. Federal sleuths say they have no desire to "hound" anyone who has paid his penalty to society. But their statistics show a large percentage of ex-convicts return immediately to illegal pursuits. The Looser case would seem to be one in point.

SUNSHINE

A very astute Southern California business man—whose leanings are Republican—foresees some angles of the gubernatorial situation in his home state that are rather interesting.

First, he predicts the election of Upton Sinclair, the Socialist who went Democratic and made 'em like it. Then he crystal-gazes long enough to see Sinclair getting credit for a business upturn in sunny California that shouldn't be accredited solely to the EPIC plan for making life sweeter.

Here are some of the things that make for a rosy outlook in the state:

Retirees on railroad epistons are just around the corner and many of the beneficiaries will move to California. Other pension systems to cover old age in many classes are in the making. Expositions, now being planned in San Diego and other cities, will draw thousands of spending tourists. The fleet will be back with its healthy payroll in November. Federal construction projects are pumping plenty of money into the West Coast. Drought has been a relatively negligible factor.

Already, says our West Coast oracle, business is improving. He may be boosting California with the unconscious enthusiasm of a native but his estimate of the situation is worth passing on.

An eastern representative of big business has another thought concerning Upton Sinclair's EPIC plan—to say nothing of similar gestures being made by the Federal Relief Administration from Washington.

The easterner applauds this scheme for sequestering the unemployed and putting them on a mutually self-sustaining barter basis because he thinks it may be the one stick of dynamite that will blast the banks into loosening up. He is hopeful of the money-lenders will be inspired to cough up enough—a 5 per cent—to really get industry going.

Once under way industry could absorb a lot of this unprofitable population and turn them back into paying consumers again.

NOTES If the G. O. P. captures 100 seats in congress it will still be in the minority. . . . Senator Robert inson of Indiana is on the trail of an "educational officer" of the CCC who is charged with circulating communist literature. . . . Upton Sinclair had a talk with John Fahey, head of HOLC, to explore chances of getting HOLC funds for building homes by the unemployed for the unemployed in God's country. . . . Fred Landis, brother of Baseball czar Keneaw, threatens to come to congress from Will Woods' old district. . . . Bert Snell, G. O. P. House leader, is preparing a blast showing why an honest man like Lew Douglas couldn't stand it to be budget director.

SECTIONAL

The textile strike has uncovered an important backstage rift in the industry's lute.

Many northern operators privately view the strike as justified—in the South. They claim that southern mills have dragged the whole industry down by beating the devil round the stump on NRA. Minimum wages have tended to become maximum. Skilled workers are in some cases worse off than they were before their employers adopted the Blue Eagle. Stretch-out abuses are also much more prevalent in the South.

Southern mill operatives see very little cash. Most of what they earn cancels out against accounts at company stores and rent for company homes. There's a good deal of welfare work done by the mill owners but the workers would prefer less of that and more liberty to use their wages as they please. Resentment against this type of paternalism was a potent factor in strike recruiting.

New York textile circles generally feel there would have been no strike if Southern mills had been on a par with northern in their treatment of labor. Past strikes have cured many abuses in the North.

KEYNOTE

The terms on which northern textile interests would be willing to settle with the strikers might surprise you. In contrast to the adamant attitude of steel and motor magnates they aren't at all reluctant to concede unionization—even if it means the closed shop. How come? Because the northern mills are pretty well unionized already and corresponding gains for labor in the South would help to nullify the sectional handicap under which the North has been operating.

The only point in the strikers' program which sticks seriously in northern craws is the demand for a 30-hour week at 40-hour wages. The operators fervently maintain that would be ruinous and insist they couldn't begin to meet costs under such a system except by jacking prices to levels that would kill the market.

The keynote of northern sentiment is the hope that whatever final settlement is reached will end Dixie's competitive advantages. Northern industrialists shed no tears because the days of cheap and contented labor are over in the South—and that reaction isn't confined to the textile business.

PLANS

Loom fixers in weaving mills are being rapidly pulled off their jobs. They are key men in weaving operations and a mill in which they quit is virtually forced to shut down.

Textile insiders credit the strike leaders with smart generalship. Concentrating on the loom fixers is a more efficient method of spreading the paralysis than attempting to sell the walkout to masses of less skilled labor. The strategy parallels that which tied up automobile plants by focussing on tool and die makers.

New York textile men believe that casualties among the strikers are likely to be much heavier than among those who want to work. It's understood here that quite a few mills' operatives have been secretly armed to repel invasions by strikers' "flying squadrons."

LABOR

Well-posted sources say that Francis J. Gorman spoke out of turn when he implied there might be a general strike to support the textile walkout. Leaders of the Federation of Labor aren't precisely grateful to him for the suggestion.

The Federation hasn't the remotest idea of letting the radicals repeat the San Francisco blunder on a broader scale. It's on the spot already. Defeat for the textile strikers would be a solar plexus wallop at organized labor prestige. Victory would encourage the advocates of direct action in other unions—who are already hard enough to control. Any way you look at it Bill Green's lot is not a happy one. You can bet all his beans in Boston that he and his aides will do nothing to rock the boat.

New York open shoppers see their cause gaining from the strike regardless of its outcome. Their scouts report a lot of authentic resentment among non-union workers who have been forced off the job by strong-arm tactics and predict that union recruiters will find the going rocky for a long time to come. But conservative rejoicing on that score is sharply tempered by Amalgamated's win in the West Virginia Rail election. Steel leaders are alarmed. They especially wanted the company union to win that one as a precedent and thought they had the exits covered.

Don't be surprised if the set-back leads to intensive backstage sniping at the steel labor relations board. The boys agreed to the elections because they thought they had 'em in the bag.

REPUBLICANS

The anti-Macy putsch by leading New York Republicans may have national effect. The Old Guard's hottest grievance against Macy is not his power thrust charges but his refusal to use an attack on the New Deal as the mainstay of this fall's campaign. They won't try to throw him out as state chairman because it's too close to election for an open civil war but they do hope—by capturing party finances—to reduce him to a figurehead.

It's a neat scheme but it has a flaw. A good many Republicans—especially the younger element—are staunch Macy supporters and likely to start something if he is steamrollered. So the Old Guard doesn't dare set too rough.

Marcy's liberalism gives the struggle for control of the party machinery national significance. If he keeps the upper hand it will be because there are more liberals among New York State Republicans than is generally suspected. The national party could hardly afford to overlook such an indication in the strongest citadel of conservatism.

UNIONS

New Yorkers are repeating this one indignation. Justice Holmes, of Lewiston, Maine, made a sensational speech on Sept. 3 which labor leaders are sending through the country. He described Fascism as dictatorship by big business and said:

"The true solution is for organized labor to capture the NRA and throw out the enemies of labor and fill their places with labor men. Your most powerful weapon for this purpose is the strike. If Fascism—that is to say, the dictatorship of big business—comes its first step will be to outlaw labor unions and to make it a penitentiary crime to belong to a labor union."

No one of authority here will father that idea.

MUNITIONS

It is no news that the munitions makes try to hinder international peace conferences. The story about their efforts to stir up war among smaller countries is likewise an old one. Even the revelations of specific graft caused few eyebrows to be raised here.

Nearly everyone able to read knows that the greasing of palms is still too common a practice, especially below the Rio Grande. It is hardly a secret that many American business men, in more praiseworthy endeavors, have found that they are not considered "sympathetic" in some parts of Latin America unless they carry a black satchel along.

Governmental insiders say Henry Ford started out a few years ago to get South American business for his automobiles on a Sunday school basis, but he did not get very far.

SIDELINES

There is another angle to the international arms traffic yarn. Wars are fought with more than weapons.

Only a chosen few know it, but Japan has for years been building up her oil reserves with purchases, mainly from one of our largest companies. All the guns and ammunition in her navy would be just so much scrap iron and waste without oil to run her vessels, as she has no domestic oil supply. More openly, Japan has also bought heavily of cotton, steel and nitrates. She has big stocks of all these products on hand to make her own arms and munitions.

All are sold freely in international trade and are just as necessary to war as guns.

DISASTERS

Seaworthy officials here cannot say so out loud, but they believe something should be done about reviving practices of the sea.

Captains consider a dollar before they consider a life. Their primary responsibility is to the owners of the ship who pay their salaries, and only secondarily to the people entrusted to their care.

Frequently they delay the sending of SOS signals until all hope is gone. It costs money to send an SOS, which diverts traffic for rescue work. Commercial prestige also is involved. Likewise, they seldom beach or abandon a ship, because salvage work is expensive.

In thinking this way, officials are not talking particularly about the Morro Castle disaster. They cannot know the facts in that case until an investigation is concluded.

That merely started them to thinking about what should be done, although they have no idea that anything will be done. You cannot repeal the law of nature.

FOREIGN TRADE

You may have noticed that all these recently announced tariff agreements were not with any large countries. There is a general supposition among the boys backstage that there will not be any deals announced with big countries until after the November election. There is a method in that. When big trades are made (if any ever are) they will have an influence on domestic tariffs. These little trades have little or no effect.

The tariff is such a warm political issue that the New Dealers would stir up a hornet's nest if they fooled with it now.

NOTES

Soldier-politicos figure the Miami Legion convention will take no action on the bonus two weeks hence. They base that supposition on the reports from state conventions, which indicate that less than one-third of the state delegations will favor the bonus. The next convention city for the Amer-

—Before sailing for England with Freddie Miller, Pete Reilly announced that the National Boxing association's featherweight champion would not box Baby Arimendi for Madison Square Garden. Miller is to tackle Nel Tarleton on the other side. Reilly feels that members of his string weren't dropped into Garden programs as often as they might have been during the last indoor season. Arimendi made a third edition with Miller attractive by flooring and pummeling Mike Belmont to gain title recognition in New York. Reilly points out that Miller beat Arimendi before 8000 Mexicans in Los Angeles on February 24, 1933, but neglects to mention that the little brown doll evened his score with the southpaw in San Francisco four months later.

—When base hits came with Sam Leslie's night shirts, other members of the Brooklyn club went in for the old-fashioned robe de nuit.

—Frank Stojack and Henry Hayduk, State College of Washington guards, might well be twins, although the former registers from Tacoma and the latter from Chicago. They are squatty 186-pounders. Sometimes coaches and teammates get them mixed a little, and call them Stodak and Hayjack, or Stohay and Duckjack, but it makes little difference. They're always in the thick of things.

—In 1845, when the first baseball club was organized, a team in order to win had to score 21 runs, then called aces. No definite number of innings constituted a game, but there was a rule that each club had to play an equal number of "hands." The poker influence, no doubt.

—Big Jim Farley picked Jimmy McLarnin to repel Barney Ross in their encore. "I always string with a champion until he gets licked, and, in my opinion, Ross didn't beat you the last time," the postmaster general told the Irish welter shortly before the return engagement. "I sat with Gene Tunney that night, and both of us were astonished at the decision."

—Turk followers wonder what would have happened had Cavalcade, his nemesis, been in the $15,000 Rhode Island handicap at Narragansett park in which Discovore broke Sir Barton's world record for one and three-sixteenths miles by three-fifths of a second in hooking it home in 1:55.

—Berkeley Bell's remarkable comeback has carried him to the final of 20 of the 23 tennis tournaments in which he has competed this season.

—Ray Bulvid is only a sophomore at Marquette university, but the officials are so certain of his stardom that his picture adorns the covers advertising the schedule.

—Heine Meine, Pittsburgh pitcher, developed his huge forearm muscles working in his father's blacksmith shop.

—In his youth, Benny Friedman aspired to be a professional strong man. He squeezed tennis balls throughout his school days, accounting for the tremendous strength of his hands and his phenomenal passing.

—Clark Griffith is thinking of naming a surgeon manager of the Senators in 1935.

—Cy Perkins, constant companion of Mickey Cochrane, calls his former pupil and current chief, Gordon.

BREA BEATEN BY FULLERTON NINE, 10 TO 0

Fullerton meets Brea at Fullerton again tonight in the second game of the three out of five series to determine the Orange County League night championship, after swamping the Brea nine last night on the Brea field with a score of 10 to 0.

The Indian team scored the 10 runs with 15 hits and was credited with two errors. The Brea nine was allowed but four hits, and was credited with a similar number of errors in the game last night.

Two runs were scored by Fullerton on three hits in the second inning. Another score was added in the fifth inning, and in the sixth inning the Indian team came back to take three more runs on an outfield error. Four runs were made on four hits in the ninth frame, when Rodger blasted a home run with the bases loaded.

Tucker, hurling for Fullerton, had things his own way throughout the game. Montgomery, Brea twirler, was knocked out of the box in the seventh and was replaced by Roberts, who finished the game.

The Fullerton lineup included Struck, c; Tucker, p; Reno, 2b; D. Jones, rf; Pepper, lf; Rodger, 3b; Snell, cf; W. Jones, ss; and Curtis, 1b. The Brea team was composed of Pla, cf; Pister, rf; Thompson, ss; Sweet, lf; Stives, c; Arroues, cf and rf; Miller, lf; DiHarc, 2b; Griffith, 3b; and Montgomery and Roberts, p.

OILERS DEFEAT ALL-STARS, 3-2

PREDICT GREAT FOOTBALL TEAM FOR U. OF S. F.

(The University of San Francisco lost football games last fall by one touchdown margin. This year, San Francisco may sweep through its schedule undefeated if given the breaks. Next, University of Nevada.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—(UP)—With a line which will not bow to any on the Pacific coast and new backfield threats to spark an attack, the University of San Francisco this year throws pre-season scares into the camps of opponents.

Michy Stanford, Oregon State, St. Mary's and Santa Clara have reason to be wary of the Green and White clad Dons. Last season the above mentioned teams beat the Dons by the slimmest of margins because the Franciscan backs were unable to match the play of their sterling line. In the coming 1934 season, Coach "Spud" Lewis believes he will have a backfield to equal his forwards.

When critics start to compare backs with Cotton Warburton, of U. S. C., they are taking in plenty of territory. Yet that is what is happening to Mike Baccharin, 165-pound transfer to U. S. F., from Modesto junior college. Mike is the sort of a player who runs long distances for his touchdowns. He tracked them off last season from 35, 75 and 85 yards. His scoring was consistent. Spud Lewis, who is inclined to be cautious and conservative, actually compares Mike with the Cotton.

Another junior college transfer is Ray Peterson, 195, a fullback from Sacramento. He was a big star in spring practice and Lewis feels he is the equal of any fullback on the coast.

The advent of star backs is a great relief to San Francisco's line. Last season such linemen as Captain Jim Barber, "Pop" Blewett, Johnny Pecheu, Roscoe Shaw, Vic Wilson, Bill Hinch and Larry Siemerling, who was rated as center on a number of coast and national all-star teams, saw their best efforts nullified by fumbling and ineffective backs. Time after time, in important games, the U. S. F. line would open the way to the opposition goal line, where the backs would lose almost cinch chances to tally.

Almost every Don game saw from three to six fumbles. Yet Stanford pulled out a 20 to 13 victory only by a last minute finger-tip pass to Monk Mosier, end. St. Mary's got away with a 7 to 0 win. Santa Clara's victory was by a hair and only a long touchdown dash by Red Franklin, All-American back, put Oregon State out in front.

The Don line will be a veteran wall from end to end. Veteran backfield men, including Orv Condray, star fullback, will bolster the junior college stars and several likely sophomores in that department.

The Dons start a hard schedule with Oregon State. If they get past the northerners, there is no telling what they will do the remainder of the season. Some of their backers already are speaking in terms of an undefeated team, with Larry Siemerling and perhaps other Dons on the All-American.

SHATTERS RECORD OF WEISSMULLER

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12.—(UP)—The long-standing record of Johnny Weissmuller for the 250-yard free style passed into the possession of Jack Medina, crack Seattle swimmer, last night when he splashed the distance in 2:33.8.

Weissmuller's record was 2:37. Another record went by the boards when Medina's feminine teammates from the Washington Athletic club, composing a relay team, swam the 800-yard free style route in 9:38.8. The girls, Mary Lou Petty, Hazel Brook, Olive McKean and Doris Buckley, held the old record of 10:03.6.

WINDSOR LAD IN BRITISH TURF WIN

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 12.—(UP)—M. H. Benson's Windsor Lad, which romped to victory in the British Derby, duplicated the feat today to win the St. Leger stakes, last of the British turf classics.

Sir Abe Bailey's Tiberius and J. A. Dewar's Loxingard finished second and third in the field of 10 which raced across the finish line before thousands of cheering spectators.

Yell Leader Joins Squad To Aid Team

BURLINGAME, Calif., Sept. 12.—(UP)—A high school cheer leader who became thoroughly disgusted when the football team refused his pleading "get in there and fight" today was the new grid hero at Burlingame high school.

Two weeks ago Ethan Higgins turned handprints in front of the bleachers as good old Burlingame lost 24 to 0 to Lowell.

Ethan was so mad that he asked Coach Swede Righter for a football suit. Last Saturday, in a practice game with Ignatius, Ethan's ability and leadership on the field earned Burlingame a 0 to 0 tie. Once he took the team to the Ignatius two-yard mark.

"It only proves that a yell leader can practice what he preaches," said the modest former maestro of the megaphone.

TURNSA BEATS DUNLAP, 3, 2, IN GOLF TOURNEY

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 12.—(UP)—George Terry Dunlap Jr., of New York, defending champion, was eliminated from the 38th national amateur golf tourney today by Willie Turnesa, young non-professional member of the famous Elmsford, N. Y., golfing family. Turnesa won by 3 and 2.

Lawson Little of San Francisco, British champion and tourney favorite, moved ahead with a 3 and 2 victory over Milan Heath of Boston. The only sizeable gallery of the day followed the Little-Heath match.

Jimmy French, Pacific coast youngster from San Francisco, scored an upset victory over Jack Westland, Walker cup star from Chicago. French's victory was amazing enough but the score, 7-5, was even more surprising.

One of the dark horses of the tourney, Leland Hamman of Paris, Texas, trans-Mississippi champion, also was put out. He was beaten by Charles Reckner of Mt. Airy, Pa., a consistent performer who has never won any tourney of consequence. The score was 3 and 2.

Fred Haas, New Orleans, star, clumped on the final nine against Chris Carr of Hamburg, N. Y., but finally turned a six-up, nine-hole lead into a 4 and 2 triumph. The tournament's "boy wonder," Bobby Jacobson of Deal, N. J., who is only 16 years old, kept up his winning streak by beating Jack Ahern of Hamburg, N. Y., 1 up. Jacobson, yesterday's hero because of his victory over Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, turned one up over Ahern.

Tony Torrance of Scotland beat Jack Lehman of Chicago 4 and 3, and will meet French.

David Goldman had to fight from behind to beat Riegel, 2 and 1. Both turned in 40 but Riegel was one up.

Albert "Scotty" Campbell, a youngster from Seattle, who holds the Canadian amateur title, won by one up over W. F. Marks of Oakmont, Pa.

Campbell will play another coast player, Ernest Pieper of San Jose, Calif., later today in the fourth round. Pieper put on a crushing 7 and 6 victory over Frank Ford of Charleston, S. C., this morning.

Former Champion Ross Somerville of London, Ont., came through again by a narrow margin. He beat Sidney Noyes of New York, 1 up.

"Chick" Evans, Chicago, won the feature match of the third round by eliminating Chandler Egan of Pebble Beach, Calif., 2 and 1. Both are former champions, each having won twice. Egan won in 1904 and 1905, and Evans in 1918 and 1920. This is Evans' 25th amateur.

Reynolds Smith of Dallas played two extra holes before he defeated Ernie Caldwell, lanky player from Baltimore. The finish of their match was a thriller, Smith squaring at the 18th hole.

Smiles in SPORTS

One of the most amusing incidents in baseball occurred back in 1913, and involved William Nealon and Joe Briggs, outfielders for the New London club of the Eastern association.

Both were playing their steady game when a fly ball was hit between them. They started after it with the crack of the bat. Joe saw Bill going for the easy out, and at the same time Bill saw Joe on the way.

"I have it," cried Joe.

"I'll take it," yelled Bill.

Whereupon both of them stopped and the ball fell for a fluke hit. The two outfielders stopped and eyed each other, exchanged a few nasty digs, then stronger language, and soon they were at each other, hammer and tongs, oblivious to the fact that runners were scurrying around the bases.

They had to be separated by teammates, and were put out of the game.

TRACK IN BOWL REVAMPED FOR MIDGET CARS TONIGHT

With the bumpy stretches of the track all replaced with hard-packed dirt, midget motor car drivers will return to the Santa Ana Bowl tonight to make another assault on the exceptionally fast records that have been set up in past events.

The racing cars were considerably shaken on the turns last week so a seven-inch layer of gravel covered the track. The kids will have their last push car events tonight. It is expected that only four or five more "race nights under the stars" will be held this season.

Races tonight will start at 8:15 o'clock.

DONS, LEGION IN CONFERENCE

Midget Race Track Interferes With Football Ground WANT COMPTON TILT AT BOWL

Whether Santa Ana's Dons will play Compton junior college at the Bowl one week from Friday night or at Poly field the following Saturday afternoon hinges this week upon the outcome of a conference between Coach Bill Cook and the American Legion, sponsor of the midget auto races.

With the installation of the racing track a few months ago, the end zones of the football field were stripped of their turf, and the dirt rolled and stamped to a hardness resembling concrete. This condition must be remedied before the field can be used for football.

Already having scheduled two night practice games at the Bowl before the midget auto races terminate early next month, the junior college hopes some arrangement can be made whereby the track can be changed or the racing season shortened.

The Dons have nocturnal engagements at the Bowl with Compton September 21, and Long Beach, September 28, and they not only will be forced to revamp their schedule if an agreement cannot be reached with the Legion, but will be faced with a heavy financial loss as well. Night games draw larger crowds because Santa Ana's working classes are free to attend the games, and the Dons do not wish to forfeit this extra gate by playing in the afternoon on some other field.

Additional showers and a supply room are being planned at the Bowl to house the Dons, who have been drilling at Poly field until accommodations can be made.

Valencia To Compete In Prep League

Valencia high school of Placentia, with Clarence Bishop as coach, will compete in the football race of the Orange County prep league for the first time this season.

Bishop, ex-Pomona college star and former member of the Fullerton high school athletic department, will call out the Valencia candidates for a regular workout this week. More than 20 boys were in suit for a series of limbering-up exercises Tuesday.

New lockers and shower rooms have been installed at Valencia high school, and regulation playing grounds will be available. Valencia's first game will be at Newport Harbor Oct. 5.

L. A. Lemke, member of the Placentia board of education, is assisting Bishop in the purchasing of uniforms and other equipment.

Following its game at Newport Harbor, Valencia opposes Orange on home grounds Oct. 12, plays at Garden Grove Oct. 19, opposes Anaheim at home Oct. 26, Tustin at home Nov. 2, travels to Huntington Beach Nov. 9, and meets Brea-Olinda at home Nov. 16.

WALBRIDGE TO BATTLE WANA IN MAIN BOUT

Jack Walbridge of the crack Compton boxing stable, a steady winner at Jim Jeffries' Burbank arena, will be imported by the Orange County Athletic club tomorrow night to fight Bill Wana of Westminster, undisputed mid-dieweight champion of this section.

Matchmaker "Bud" Rutledge is determined to find for Wana more spirited competition than the clever southpaw has met of late. With Walbridge, one of the most sought main-eventers in Southern California amateur circles, the quest may come to an end. Jack has been knocking off all comers in the Burbank area.

As usual, the O. C. A. C. promises a double main event, with the first one pairing Paddy Quillen, the baby-faced marvel from Colton, and Charley Requejo, who just missed making the United States boxing team in the 1932 Olympic. Requejo, a terrific puncher, resumed his fistic career several weeks ago and has been a consistent winner around San Bernardino.

Another favorite on the program is Paul Garcia, Compton junior collegian, who appears in the semi-windup against John Palena, Long Beach 147-pounder. Garcia returned last week from a trip to Mexico City.

Other bouts, all four rounds: Freddie Garcia, Watts, vs. Al Lemon, Fullerton, 175 pounds.

Art Anderson, Long Beach, vs. Don Benzer, Anaheim, 118 pounds.

Tino Munoz, Placentia, vs. "Pop-eye" Davidson, Long Beach, 159 pounds.

Roy Nichols, Compton, vs. Johnny Orasco, Santa Ana, 138 pounds.

Ray Oda, Long Beach, vs. Ralph Raricles, San Bernardino, 138 pounds.

Bobby Perez, Compton, vs. Marcello Janenez, Placentia, 118 pounds.

Tom Andrews, Long Beach, vs. Frank Oberlin, Santa Ana, 124 pounds.

Bobby Fernda, Compton, vs. Everett Jure, San Bernardino, 125 pounds.

LAST GAME TO BE PLAYED AT S. A., TUESDAY

Joe Rodgers' champion Ollers evened the five-game series between the Huntington Beach squad and Bill Cole's picked all-star team last night by beating the all-stars 3-2 on the beach diamond.

The defeat of the all-star aggregation made it necessary to play a fifth and final game in the series. This game will be played Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock in the Santa Ana Bowl.

Cole's team won the first two games by the same score—4 to 1, and the Ollers came back to take the next two games, winning their first victory by a score of 4 to 0 and the game last night 3 to 2.

Huntington Beach scored the first run in the second inning after "Fuzzy" Errington had walked Manno, Oller catcher. Murray was out, then Rodgers fled out to Conrad for the second out. Smith singled, advancing Manno to second. He scored on Sabela's double to center.

The second run for the Ollers came in the seventh inning, when Smith bunted safely. Sabela struck out for the first out. Ollers was out from third to first for the second out, but Smith advanced to second on that play, and then scored on Schuhardt's single to center. The third run was made in the eighth. With two out, Manno got a double to right field, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Griffith's error on Rodgers.

The all-stars made their first run in the seventh. L. Daley led off with a single to short. Preble followed with a single to second, advancing Daley to second. On Preble's hit, Thiery made a wide throw to first and both men advanced a base. Daley scored on a passed ball. The final tally was made in the ninth. With one out, Daley hit to right field and went to second on a wild pitch. He went to third on a passed ball, and scored on Conrad's hit to left field. In the meantime, Preble had walked. Lemon was the last man up and struck out with a man

Engineer Named As New Sewer District Proposed

BOARD NOT TO ACT ON BEACH TITLE SEARCH

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 12.—With the appointment of A. J. Stead, local civil engineer, as city engineer, definite steps were taken last night by the city council to proceed with the formation of a sewer collection district extending from Sleepy Hollow to Blue Bird canyon.

The newly elected city engineer, employed on a part-time basis and at a percentage compensation, was instructed to prepare an engineering report on the project. In proceeding with the formation of a sewer collection district, the council was supported by a petition presented by Andrew S. Hall, local property owner, carrying the names of a large number of property owners in the proposed district. Roll call on a motion to employ Stead revealed no dissenting vote.

Echoes of the controversy voiced some time ago over the safety of the local fishing pier were again heard last night when on motion of Councilman Thomas Cummings, the council directed the city clerk to notify the operators of the pier that it will be closed by the city on or about September 15.

An apparent unwillingness on the part of the city fathers to spend the taxpayers' money on expensive title searches and possible subsequent court proceedings to determine ownership of beach frontage and paths leading to the beach sands, was revealed following a report of Councilman Cummings dealing with the status of a barrier erected by former Senator W. E. Brown on the ocean side of his property at Victoria drive. Reporting for a special committee, appointed to investigate the location of a wall erected across what was thought to be a public thoroughfare, preventing access to the beach, Councilman Cummings admitted that his committee was unable to determine whether or not the wall was located on public property.

Cummings, however, after investigation, was inclined to believe that it was located on private property, a view shared by Councilman Howard Heisler, another member of the committee. Moreover, it was suggested that the function of determining property rights of beach frontage and paths leading thereto, was one that properly belonged to the courts. City Attorney Milburn Harvey remarked that court proceedings in this matter, because of its controversial nature, would prove a long-drawn out and costly affair and should not be undertaken unless warranted by a title search.

Given a rather cold reception was a request of Cullen "Hezi" Tate, 1730 North Wilcox avenue, Hollywood, for permission to use property at the corner of Coast boulevard and Brooks avenue for cafe purposes. The request was made because of the fact that only a portion of the property is zoned for business, said portion lying 150 feet back of the property line from the boulevard. The council took the stand that the granting of the request would not only lead to protests but also to similar requests for rezoning of property in the neighborhood. The

C. Of C. Told Beach Gain In Business

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 12.—Warren J. Bristol, president of the chamber of commerce, in an address before the chamber at the weekly luncheon at the Golden Bear cafe Monday noon, declared that Huntington Beach as a city, had passed through the depression and was "on the up and up."

President Bristol had gathered from the Southern Counties Gas company and the Southern California Edison company their statistics on meter installations in the city from September of 1934 as compared with meter installations at the opening of the month of September in 1933.

Bristol showed a 20 per cent increase in service for each of the big utility companies in Huntington Beach. He also cited scarcity of rent houses and mentioned other realty dealers and mentioned other lesser barometers of business to show Huntington Beach going steadily ahead.

It was announced that the chamber of commerce will talk on the federal housing act at the directors' meeting Thursday night. At that time the chamber will go on record as to whether or not it favors the act or opposes it, and as to whether or not a campaign is to be carried on here to secure building improvements under the act.

MRS. PAUL T. RICE SHOWER HONOREE

WESTMINSTER, Sept. 12.—A surprise shower for Mrs. Paul Truman Rice, of Garden Grove, was given recently at the home of Mrs. Rice's mother, Mrs. H. Harbison, of Eighteenth street, Westminster, with a large group of friends attending.

The time was spent playing games and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Irene Donohue, Mrs. Lowell Detrickson, Mrs. Glenn Butler and Mrs. Oscar Keene. Gifts for the honoree were brought into the room by Tommie Evans, three-year-old son of Mrs. Mildred Evans.

Refreshments of cake in variety and brick ice cream were served, a blue, pink and white color scheme being carried out.

Present were the honor guest, Mrs. Paul Truman Rice, Mrs. Layman Rice, Miss Kathleen Donohue, Miss Irene Donohue, Mrs. Oscar Keene, Mrs. Zoe Zlakot, Mrs. Lowell James, Mrs. Fred Walter, Garden Grove; Mrs. Steve Osborn, Gardena; Mrs. Glenn Butler, Huntington Park; Mrs. Mildred Evans, Willowbrook; Mrs. Sauer Bier, Montrose; Mrs. Opal Brown, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Mary Wade, Mrs. Lowell Detrickson, Miss Edna Lee Harbison and the hostess, Mrs. H. Harbison.

city clerk was instructed, however, to issue a business license should the owners or lessee of the property be willing to confine their operations to that part zoned for business.

Councilman Heisler told his colleagues that he was not satisfied with garbage and trash collections, citing instances of carelessness. His complaint was referred to Councilman Cummings for action.

SCHOOL BOARD HARBOR PLANS SEEKS DATA ON DISCUSSED AS BUILDING SITE BOAT MEN MEET

PLACENTIA, Sept. 12.—Passing a resolution four to one, members of Placentia school board, sitting as a high school board Monday night, voted to start securing information on a building site, and on building and equipment for a new high school.

The solution, which was opposed by Mrs. Hermine Lowe, was presented by Warren Bradford. It called attention to the fact that the original election that resulted in withdrawal of Placentia Union Grammar school district from the Fullerton Union High school district had been supported by a large majority of the voters, that the state board of equalization had been liberal in its grants under the circumstances and that a two-thirds majority being required for bond issuance is what defeated the building of the school.

The board employed two high school and four grammar school teachers. Included were Ruth Miller, master from Southern California, who will teach clothing, commercial, English, and physical education in the high school; Fred Steward Rupp, formerly employed at Globe, Ariz., who will teach orchestra, band and vocal, dividing his time between the high school and grammar school, and Vista Wyatt, Fullerton, and Dorothy Allen, Garden Grove, third grade teachers. Mrs. Lela Ruth Benson, Fullerton, departmental seventh and eighth grade, and Glenn Nelson, seventh and eighth grade Americanization teacher.

Mrs. Marie Beck was not granted leave of absence. In case she decides not to teach in Placentia, Mrs. Holmes, former employee of the county health department, will fill her place.

SOCIAL HELD BY EXCHANGE MEMBERS

HANSEN, Sept. 12.—The Women's auxiliary of the United Commercial exchange held a penny social at the commissary on Stanton boulevard recently with O. L. Guinn as master of ceremonies.

The program opened with the singing of "America" and a brief speech by Mrs. Bennett. Mrs. Briggs followed with a reading, "Aunt Eleanor's Hero." Miss Marjorie Poff played "Humoresque" as a violin solo. Charles Mook and Miss Poff then played "La Paloma."

O. L. Guinn and Mrs. Cynthia Briggs presented a comedy skit entitled "Suitcases." The rest of the evening was spent in singing for miscellaneous articles in a synthetic fishpond, electing the most popular woman and homeliest man and an old fashioned spelling bee.

Those present adjudged Mrs. George Poff as the most popular woman and the master of ceremonies, O. L. Guinn, the homeliest man.

Marjorie Poff won the spelling championship among the girls, while Charles Mook led the boys. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

Former La Habra Girl Is Married

LA HABRA, Sept. 12.—Details of the wedding of Helen DeGray Egnew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. DeGray, of Long Beach, former La Habra, to Daniel Inscore, also of Long Beach, were received here yesterday by friends of the couple.

Mrs. Inscore spent her childhood in La Habra, attending the local grammar school and the Fullerton Union High school. Mr. Inscore is the nephew of Hugh Land, of Long Beach, and attended U. S. C.

Wedding guests were Mrs. Louis DePatagna and her mother, Mrs. L. DePatagna, of St. Louis; Miss Ellen Benedict, of New York; Naomi Granger, Helen Jackson and Marguerite Williams, of La Habra; Hugh Land, Verna Helen Land, Cyril Myers and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. DeGray.

PIANIST AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 12.—Included among new arrivals here is Mrs. Marion S. Mower, pianist, formerly of Minneapolis and Chicago and until recently of Hollywood. Mrs. Mower has purchased property located at 533 Lombardy lane, which she expects to make her future home. She studied music at the Sherwood Music school, Chicago, and at the Department of Music of the University of Minnesota.

Also heard were M. S. Robinson, former harbor master, now editor and publisher of the Pacific Skipper, who pointed out the increasing activities of the Newport Harbor Yacht club as evidence of a stimulated interest in yachting, and Mark Johnson, former mayor of Newport Beach, who spoke briefly of courtesy to incoming yachtsmen.

The boat builders discussed briefly the program of expansion under way on Newport bay at the present time. Close to $250,000 is being spent by various boat firms in the building of new moorings, slips, shops and anchorages, in preparation for the influx of yachts expected with the completion of the harbor development slated to start Saturday.

President A. B. Rousseau and Claude Pullen represented the board of directors of the chamber of commerce at the meeting City Engineer R. L. Patterson representing the city of Newport Beach.

HOLD SERVICE FOR J. H. COX, PIONEER

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 12.—Funeral services were held at the Dixon mortuary here at 3 o'clock Tuesday for James H. Cox, 87, who passed away at his home in the Talbert district Saturday after a year's illness. Interment was in Westminster Memorial park.

Mr. Cox was a native of England and at the age of four came with his parents to Iowa. He operated a hotel in Waterloo, Ia., and was known as the champion trap shooter of that state before coming to the Talbert neighborhood in 1899, conducting farming operations at Talbert for 33 years until sale of his property two years ago.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna Cox, and five sons, Frank Cox, of Los Angeles; Isaac Cox, of Globe, Ariz.; Ben, of San Diego; Hubert, of Talbert; Oliver, now serving on the U. S. S. Saratoga, and one daughter, Mrs. California Wagner, of Paulmarino.

CONTINUE GUARDS AT LAGUNA WEEK

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 12.—Because of the fact that an unexpected number of summer residents, particularly families with children of school age, this year are prolonging their stay here, the services of the Laguna Beach life guard squad, in charge of Capt. Ed Hobart, will be continued for another week, inquiries at the city hall revealed today. Their services were to have been terminated yesterday afternoon.

The last emergency call to reach the guard tower at the main beach Sunday afternoon brought aid to Douglas Snow, 19, 1404 North Hoover street, Hollywood, who, while swimming off Euterpe street, was caught in the undertow and had some difficulty in getting back to shore. His plight was noticed by H. S. Cates, 705 North Gary street, Pomona, an expert swimmer, who truck out through the huge combbers and had Snow safely back in shallow water when Captain Hobart and his life guards appeared on the scene.

MESA SPEAKER TELLS SUNDAY SCHOOL FUTURE

COSTA MESA, Sept. 12.—The Rev. John Engle, pastor of the Methodist church of Huntington Beach, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Sunday school board of the Community church Monday night at a potluck dinner program. The Rev. Mr. Engle chose as his topic, "The Future of the Sunday School" and dwelt at length on the subtitle, "Lads and Lasses."

The speaker recited the life history of John Wesley, Frances Willard and John Dillinger and others, carefully comparing their childhood environment and training.

During the business session of the meeting it was decided to hold the annual Promotion day and Rally day programs on September 30. It was also voted to organize an intermediate department for the Sunday school work here. Those present were the Rev. and Mrs. John Engle, of Huntington Beach; the Rev. and Mrs. W. I. Lowe, of Rev. Grow S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Eastman, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mc-

Murtry and daughter, Doris; Chisholm Brown, Evelyn Rollins, Woodrow Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hulbert, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Davis, Mrs. James Gallagher, Mrs. Donald Gibson, Mrs. Edith Currie, Mrs. Laura Conwell, Mrs. C. C. Attridge and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bennett.

Choristers Will Organize Sept. 18

COSTA MESA, Sept. 12.—Announcement was made today by Harriet Siegfried Underwood, director of the Siegfried choristers, that the singers will reorganize with a rehearsal and social gathering next Tuesday evening, September 18 at 7:30 o'clock in the social hall of the Community church.

Mrs. Underwood stated that the chorus is not confined to Costa Mesa people, anyone who enjoys singing, whether they can read music or not, being invited to participate in the work of the organization. Men's voices are especially desired, she said.

AUTOS COLLIDE

SEAL BEACH, Sept. 12.—W. E. Cannon, 27, residing at 311 Ninth street, Huntington Beach, and Mrs. Louise M. Smith, 38, Harbor City, collided at Coast boulevard and Thirteenth street yesterday. Both drivers received treatment from a local physician and later were able to return to their homes.

Farm Center To Open Activities On Next Monday

YORBA LINDA, Sept. 12.—The opening meeting of the year of Yorba Linda Farm center is scheduled for September 17 and will be preceded by a dinner, according to announcement of J. P. Ton, president.

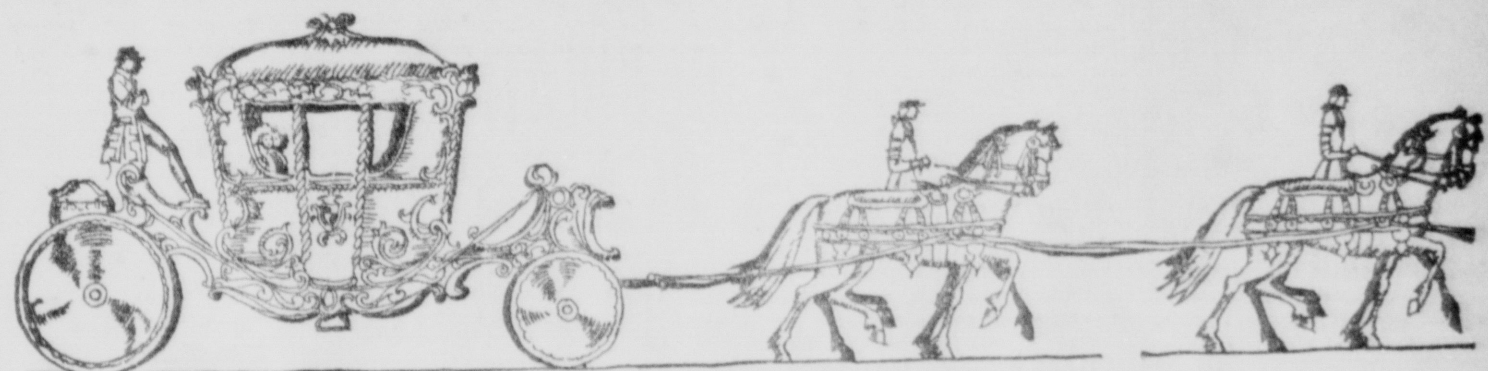

Felton Browning, of Tustin, president of the farm bureau of Orange county, will be principal speaker of the evening. He visited the citrus auction markets in the east during the summer and will tell something of them. In addition, pictures of the citrus industry will be shown, including some scenes from the Yorba Linda Citrus association packing house.

IDYLLWILD

The road between Banning and Idyllwild is being graded, reports the National Automobile club. Careful driving is necessary over this stretch as the surface is rough and washboarded.

OFFICER GETS RULES ON GUN REGISTRATION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—John P. Carter, collector of internal revenue, announced today that he had received a ruling which states definitely what kind of guns must be registered under the national firearms act.

All shot guns and rifles having barrels less than 18 inches in length, must be registered; all machine guns and sub-machine guns and all silencers must be registered. All other firearms which can be carried on the person must be registered only in case they automatically discharge more than one shot with one pull of the trigger. So called "automatics"—pistols and revolvers—which reload automatically but discharge only one shot with each pull of the trigger, do not have to be registered.

All individuals owning firearms subject to registration under the above ruling must call at the collector's office, 939 South Broadway, Los Angeles—or at branch offices in other cities and register the same. The penalty for failure to register firearms is $2000 or five years imprisonment, or both.

All importers, manufacturers and dealers and persons renting firearms subject to registration as above defined, must register and pay special tax. Pawnbrokers also who loan on such firearms are liable to special tax.

SCHEDULES AT Y. M. C. A. GYM ARE RESUMED

The Y.M.C.A. gymnasium and swimming program is back on the regular schedule, following two weeks of work on changes made necessary by the preparations for the junior college use of the equipment.

During the rest of this week there will be swimming for boys each afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock, except Friday afternoon, when there will be a swimming period for girls at the same hours. The afternoon class for business men meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 4:30 o'clock for calisthenics, with volleyball at 5 o'clock. A new class for beginners is to be started next Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock for men who wish to start in gymnasium work and volleyball. This will meet on Tuesday and Friday afternoons at 5 o'clock.

One special class of young men meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:15 to 7:30 o'clock and another mixed class of men and women meets at present on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, 7:15 to 8:30 o'clock.

The regular morning class for women will resume work on Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock for gymnasium and swimming.

Basketball practice is being started by Commercial League teams, which will be scheduled for special hours as they apply for time.

Junior college classes will start next Monday, running between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. A new program for boys will be provided with the opening of school.

Picnics and Reunions

MICHIGAN

Former residents of Michigan now in Southern California are being notified that their official picnic reunion will be held in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, Sept. 15, 1934, under the auspices of the Michigan Association of Southern California which has been featuring these reunions for more than 30 years. The program will follow the basket dinner hour and will include a fine musical program by Chester Foster Rand and assistants. Dr. E. E. Haring, president of the association is in charge of all the plans and arrangements for the day. All Wolverines of the whole west will be welcomed. All the happy picnic features will be carried out, including county registers.

TWO MEN FIRED FROM CANNON

Two men soaring through space, after being fired from a monster repeating cannon, a sensation of the Great Hugo, is one of the startling features of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey combined circus in Santa Ana tomorrow. One of the men whizzes by the other 67 feet over the arena, with both hurtling on in great arcs to land in a net 200 feet beyond.

BIG CIRCUS TO SHOW THURSDAY ARRIVES EARLY

Tomorrow is Circus day in Santa Ana.

From 4:30 a. m. to midnight, this city will be the home of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Combined circus—the largest in the world.

Sixteen hundred people will be here, including clowns, daring riders, men and women of the flying trapeze, fat ladies, strong men, and all the rest of the circus stars.

There will be elephants, lions, camels, ponies, tigers, trained seals, monkeys, bears, and all the other representatives of jungleland.

Yes, it will be a great day for kids! And grown-ups, too.

Arrives Early

The first circus train is due to arrive in Santa Ana from San Diego at 4:30 tomorrow morning, and will unload along the Santa Fe tracks between First and Fourth streets, according to C. D. Lindsey, Santa Fe representative here.

Three other trains will follow at 10-minute intervals. In all, ninety double-length steel railroad cars are required to carry the big circus, its performers, animals, tents, and all equipment. There are 25 stock cars, 40 freight cars, and 25 passenger cars in the four special circus trains.

Circus unloading always attracts a large crowd and many alarm clocks will be set ahead tonight so that fathers and mothers, and boys and girls, may arise unusually early to see the animals, cages, trucks, and equipment as they arrive for the Santa Ana performances.

The circus grounds will be at South Main and Pomona streets, where the "big top" will rise early in the morning. Thirty-one tents are carried by this circus, including the world's largest "big top" seating 18,000 persons, and the commissary and dining tents where 4800 meals are served daily. The route to the circus grounds from the unloading space on Santa Fe avenue between First and Fourth will be as follows: West on First to Halladay, south on Halladay to McFadden, west on McFadden to Orange, south on Orange to Pomona, west on Pomona to Main street.

The circus doors will open at 1 and 7 a. m. allowing time for leisurely inspection of the menagerie of 1009 rare animals before the performances start at 2 and 8 p. m. Those wishing to purchase tickets before circus time may do so at the McCoy Drug store at 104 East Fourth street.

Following tomorrow night's performance here, the circus will entrain for Pasadena.

Many New Sensations

This year's Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey combined circus is presenting many new sensational features, including the firing of two living persons bodily through space in the same instant from a monster repeating cannon, and the marvelous Otari troupe of aerialists, who fly from all points of the compass simultaneously from a huge aerial cross.

Other features include Mlle. Gillette, Europe's sensation of the air; 150 clowns in Humpty Dumpty Centennial celebration; revival of famous old-time stunts in which champion leapers and tumblers somersault from springboards over massed elephants, camels and horses, and Miss Dorothy Herbert, world's most daring rider.

The sideshows include a congress of human oddities and weird people from far lands and near. The sideshows open at 10 a. m. and run continuously through the day and evening.

"New Deal" Program

The circus is celebrating an all New Deal program, with gala performances inaugurated by the 1934 edition of The Durbur, opulent reproduction of the renowned coronation ceremonial of Delhi, India, with nearly 2000 people and animals participating, including scores of elephants and camels gorgeously draped with gem-studded robes and bearing ornate howdahs on their backs.

Merkle, a foreign star, will be seen in his upside down mid-air stroll. Mlle. Gillette dives from a dome-high perch to a trapeze far below. Con Colleano, forward somersaulter on the tight wire, will thrill and fascinate in the center ring spotlight. Royal Paddaung giraffe-necked women from Burma, each carrying 50 to 60 pounds of brass on her elongated neck, her arms and ankles, will be seen in the main performance.

A new congress of rough riders of the world is among the outstanding 1934 New Deal tour features.

Police News

Robert Strain charged with violation of the state wage laws was arraigned in the Fullerton justice court yesterday and posted $100 bail to guarantee his appearance in a San Diego justice court today.

Raymond Haynes, 1328 Cypress street, was arrested by police on a Newport Beach warrant yesterday and taken to the beach city to face petty theft charges.

The stolen bicycle of J. W. Logan, 324 East Walnut street, reported missing Sunday, has been found by police and returned to the owner.

This country's oldest road is situated near El Paso, Tex., and is now known as U. S. Route 62 and U. S. Route 80. It is about 6000 years old.

COMPARISONS SHOW SIZE OF NEW SHIP

Some descriptive comparisons to show the giant size of the new French line steamer Normandie, which went into service this summer, were given today by Julia Ann Hyde of the travel department of the Commercial National bank.

They show that the fine new passenger ship, which is 1027 feet long and weighs 75,000 gross tons, weighs seven and a half times as much as Eiffel tower; is as long as four Statues of Liberty piled one on top of the other; would extend clear across Times Square, running from Forty-third to Forty-seventh street, almost a fifth of a mile; and that her tunnel would hold both tubes of the famous Holland vehicular tube which extends under the Hudson river. These tubes each carry two lanes of traffic. The forward one of the three tunnels is as tall as a six story building.

REGULATIONS ON NUT SALES ARE REVEALED

It will be illegal this year to offer for retail sale orchard-run walnuts which have not been graded according to definite size standards and which have not been culled for removal of external defects and which fail of 90 per cent sound kernels, according to public announcement received today from the Walnut Control Board in Los Angeles.

In addition, every finished lot must be subjected to the removal of 30 per cent for consignment to the surplus pool.

Conformance with all license requirements will be evidenced by seals affixed to bags and certificates issued by inspectors of the Dried Fruit Association of California.

The Amended Marketing Agreement and License for Packers of Walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington, as approved under the A.A.A., were placed in force on August 27 by order of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

It has been generally conceded by observers that the walnut deal was one of the most effective and harmoniously administered of all A.A.A. marketing agreements to date, and leaders in the industry credit it with returning from two to three million dollars more in crop value to growers than had there been no marketing agreement.

Ban Effective
The new ban on sales of "orchard run" walnuts will affect only roadside stands and growers who sell their crops direct at retail, local walnut men said today.

Packers, wholesalers, itinerant buyers and retailers will be held responsible for the performance of the above requirements if walnuts which come into their hands have not already been subjected to control. For example, wholesalers or retailers handling walnuts from packers who have conformed, and whose offerings bear official seals on the bags, are excused from further concern.

While others who acquire unsealed walnuts, not previously graded and accounted for, must assume the responsibility of compliance with the license.

Inasmuch as intrastate marketing is now definitely controlled under the same rules as apply to interstate marketing, and because all channels of trade are held responsible for grading and the contribution of surplus to the pool, and further because only graded walnuts can eventually be offered to consumers, and finally because compliance with the above must be evidenced by seal, it is apparent that no factors will be permitted to evade sharing the burdens of surplus control.

Grower Requirements
While major responsibility will fall upon the packer, wholesaler and retailer, the grower who contemplates direct sale of walnuts to a retailer will be forced to meet all requirements of a license in the event the retailer refuses to assume the responsibility and demands that all walnuts be inspected and sealed in compliance with the license. The installation of size-grading equipment with the license. The installation of size-grading equipment on the ranch will become a necessity in such instances. On the other hand, growers who deliver orchard-run to co-operatives and independent walnut packers who are equipped to grade and sort will be relieved of any responsibility.

Following the secretary's approval of the amended agreement and license, the Walnut Control Board met in San Francisco on August 29th, and declared the surplus for 1934 to be 30 per cent, based upon an estimated total supply of 714,000 bags. This surplus will be disposed of by export and shelling by the Board, and the remainder of 70 per cent is the percentage salable on the domestic market. While old crop carryover is only one-fourth of that which faced the industry last year, the new crop on the coast is substantially larger.

Those whose operation will be subject to license provisions can obtain full information from W. E. Goodspeed, Manager, Walnut Control Board, 213 Wholesale Terminal Bldg., Los Angeles, California.

PLAN FORMATION OF CAMERA CLUB

Prospective members of an amateur camera club in southern Orange county will hold an organization meeting Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A. It was announced today by California Highway Patrolman George Peterkin, one of the organizers of the group.

Following the election of officers, those present will be taken to the county jail and shown the photographic and fingerprint laboratory by Deputy Russell R. Lutes, jail photographer.

Peterkin said that widespread interest has been shown in the club among amateur and several commercial photographers. There will be no dues or expenses with meetings devoted to exchanging data on photography, displaying prints and hearing experts. He said also that those who wish to learn how to develop and print their own pictures are welcome to attend.

Court Notes

Seven men appeared in police court yesterday on drunkenness charges and were sentenced by Judge J. G. Mitchell. Robert Kilham and Clair Smith were committed to jail for 10 days each; Tony Placencia, Albert Solas, Jesus Magana and Bernardino Diaz were fined $15 and will work out their sentences, and Henry Roquet paid a $15 fine.

Phant N. Doessett, serving a three month sentence for non-support of minor children, had his sentence modified yesterday by Judge James L. Allen and was released from jail. His term would have expired on October 12.

James Tansler, 24, Long Beach, was brought to the county jail by Seal Beach police yesterday to serve a 60-day sentence for reckless driving.

5 Six-Footers... and plenty of room for all!

FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-8. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped. Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

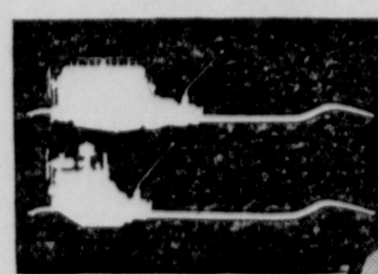

The Ford V-8 front seat is adjustable. It quickly and easily adapts itself to a six-foot-two husband or a five-foot-two wife. It ends forever that source of strife.

See the new Ford V-8. Revel in its comfort. Marvel at its performance. And drive it before you buy any car at any price.

S. A. Walnut House Starts Operations Today

DIAMOND BRAND PLANTS READY FOR '34 SEASON

Today marked the beginning of 1934 season operations in the large Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association house on East Fourth street at the Santa Fe tracks, processing the new crop of Diamond Brand walnuts from this district.

Truckloads of newly picked nuts have been arriving at the house for the past two weeks, and both units of the plant started this morning washing, bleaching, grading and other items in the processing of this accumulation.

The Santa Ana district crop will be light again this year, about 40 per cent of the normal output, according to Manager A. E. Conner. The entire output of the plant is expected to approximate 600 tons, equalling last year's figure.

Probably 20 men and 60 women will be employed during the processing season, which will continue probably six weeks.

The Santa Ana association cull cracking plant will start operations about November 1, and will employ approximately 200 women workers for a month's period, Conner said. He urged member growers to rush their picking, with frequent light shaking of trees, to avoid the mold which is showing up in spots where picking has been delayed.

7 Diamond Brand Houses

Walnut picking in all producing districts of the county has been under way for several days, and nuts are being received at all of the seven Diamond Brand houses affiliated with the California Walnut Growers' association located at Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, Garden Grove, Irvine and San Juan Capistrano. The Santa Ana house is the first to start processing, the others waiting further accumulations of nuts before getting under way.

The Irvine Walnut association, of which N. A. Beals is secretary-manager, expects to process slightly less than the 500 tons handled last year, it was learned today. This plant will begin operations probably the first of next week and will employ approximately 16 men and 34 women during the season.

The Anaheim Walnut Growers' association house will also start next week, according to Manager Walter Ross. Thirty people will be employed in the house, and probably 275 tons of nuts will be processed, as compared to 325 tons last year.

The Richland plant at Orange will handle 300 tons of nuts this year, as compared to 343 last season, and will employ probably 15 men and 20 women, according to the opening date of this house has been tentatively set as September 25.

No date has yet been set for opening of the Fullerton-Placentia

EIGHT BOOKED AT BASTILE ON DRUNK COUNTS

Eight men were booked at the county jail yesterday and early today on liquor law violations, including one for drunken driving and two for drunkenness on the highway.

William C. Hannegan, 46, Westminster, was booked for driving while under the influence of liquor, a felony, by California Highway Patrolmen Vernon Barnhill and Walter Meyer. It was reported that Hannegan was involved in a wreck south of Stanton.

Frank Evans, 63, itinerant, was arrested last evening on Ocean avenue in Garden Grove for drunkenness on the highway and was booked at the jail by Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston for the state highway patrol.

William Mumby, 35, Garden Grove, was arrested near home last evening by Deputy Sheriff James Workman and booked at the jail for drunkenness on the highway.

Sam Jones, 56, Orange, was arrested at Fourth street and Pacific Electric depot at 11 o'clock last night and jailed for drunkenness by Officers Jess Buckles and Harry Prichard.

Arrested at Third and French streets, Leonard O. Cotton, 79, itinerant, was jailed for drunkenness at 1:20 a. m. today by Officers Joe Murillo and A. L. Steward.

Irby Smith, 39, Oceanview, was booked at the jail last evening to serve a 7 1-2 day sentence for intoxication by Deputy Sheriff Fred Wilbur for Huntington Beach police.

Andrew Rios, 33, and Marcelino Martinez, 28, both of Anaheim, were booked at the jail yesterday to serve five day sentences for intoxication. Rios was later released when he paid his $10 fine.

AUTO SAVED FARM

OGDEN, Utah.—(UP)—It takes more than a drought to stop Matthew Dinsdale, farmer near here. When his irrigation water dried up he resuscitated a quarter-century-old centrifugal pump, an old auto engine pipe, dug a well and constructed a pumping outfit that enabled him to save 40 of his 60 acres of crops.

house, according to Manager Arthur Staley, one of the pioneer growers of the north Orange county district. The plant will process 250 tons of nuts, as compared to 300 tons last year.

The Capistrano Walnut association will start operations September 24, with 8 men and 16 women employed, according to Manager Walter Congdon. The plant expects to process 150 tons of nuts, the same as last year, he said.

SCHOOL BOARD SEEKS MANAGER FOR CAFETERIAS

The question of having one manager for the three school cafeterias in Santa Ana this term, as last term, or reverting to the former method of having the school principal supervise the cafeteria in his school, was warmly debated by the board of education last night, with the result that search will be made for a suitable manager, the principals meanwhile handling the job.

Cafeterias are located at the high school and both junior high schools. Last term they were under the management of Miss Dorothy McFarlane, but she has not been re-employed.

Dr. Margaret Baker and W. M. Burke favored the idea of a cafeteria manager, pointing out that the plan last year had resulted, for the first time, in a profit to the school instead of a deficit. They recognized, they said, that there had been objections to Miss McFarlane, and they were not standing for her re-employment, but they did favor a cafeteria manager. Dr. Baker declared that a trained dietician should have charge of such work.

Principal H. G. Nelson, of Lathrop junior high, objected to the statement that the cafeteria, under management of the principals, previously had been in the "red." That was not the case at Lathrop, he declared. He also asserted that Miss McFarlane last term had "done very little" toward real management or arranging menus at Lathrop cafeteria. The cook had done the buying and arranged menus, he said.

Discussion

Chairman George Wells suggested that instead of paying a cafeteria manager's salary, he'd rather put the money into providing more children with cheaper meals. Dr. Baker expressed the view that Miss McFarlane had saved more than her salary, possibly, by shrewd buying, and cited one example that had come to her attention.

Burke said that he thought the board ought to hear both sides of the case, before acting. R. R. Hays, who at first favored reverting to the former method of management by the principal, said, however, that he was open minded on the question, and, with M. B. Youel likewise, Dr. Baker's motion carried, when she proposed that the superintendent seek a suitable cafeteria manager, with the principals carrying on meanwhile.

School Auditor Charles Webber submitted a new method of purchasing books, which was adopted on motion of Dr. Baker. The new plan, explained by Webber, will result in a material saving, he said. It provides a definite price and definite discount on each publisher's books.

Chairman Wells announced that the city council would grant the use of the municipal bowl for junior college night football games this fall, after the midgut auto racing program of the American Legion has been concluded, which is expected to be soon. The city will claim the usual 10 per cent of receipts as rental.

Use Church Auditorium

The First Baptist church auditorium will be available for junior college weekly assemblies, at a cost of $10 per week, Superintendent Henderson reported. A "gentlemen's agreement" must cover the arrangement, it was said, as the church, being a non-profit and non-taxable institution, cannot contract to receive rental and the school district cannot legally make donations.

The board decided not to make charges for the acetylene welding course at high school, which costs about $20 per pupil to present, but it was also decided to restrict this course to students with necessary groundwork for the course.

Mildred L. Frazier, high school mathematics teacher, was granted a leave of absence for one semester, on account of illness. Her place need not be filled for one semester, Henderson reported, saying it meant a saving of over $1100 to the district for that period.

This was welcome news in view of the fact that Auditor Webber had informed the board that its reserves were virtually nil, and unless receipts are greater than estimated in the budget, some close cutting would be necessary.

Dr. Baker registered a protest at the dismissal of school Thursday afternoon and Friday for teachers' institute, "just as the schools are barely getting under way."

wreck, in which their friends and companions, Rawls Barnes, and his wife, Emma Barnes, of Santa Ana, met their death.

The crash between the Anderson and Curta cars occurred on the night of August 24, 1933, at the intersection of La Palma and Euclid avenues, northwest of Anaheim.

CIRCUS PERFORMERS ON CLUB PROGRAM

Noted performers from the Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey circus will entertain members and guests of the Orange County Breakfast club at the regular weekly meeting tomorrow morning in La Casa Trabuco cafe. It was announced today by Jerry Hall, program chairman. The meeting starts at 7:30 a. m.

In addition to the entertainers from the circus, Mrs. W. A. Martin, of Eugene, Oregon, will give a group of readings, it was announced. The program will be in charge of Ed Vegley and M. Martin.

Youths Accused Of Stealing Auto

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 12.—Answering a call that two boys were driving an expensive make of machine along the beach here, Chief of Police Lee Howard of Seal Beach took into custody, Charles Eastman, 19, of Norwalk, and an unnamed youth.

According to reports, the boys had driven the car along the beach for several miles when they stopped to fix a flat tire. As they worked on the tire, the tide rose and the boys abandoned the machine.

The machine had been stolen from R. M. Baker, of Los Angeles, according to police. The boys confessed that they had taken license plates from another car and exchanged them for the Baker plates, officers said.

The Gibson, one of San Francisco's most popular cocktails of the old days, contained an onion, among other ingredients.

HANDICAPPED PERSONS TO GET SCHOOL AID

Persons who are physically handicapped in any way or from any source are privileged to receive state financial aid in attending Santa Ana Junior college to fit themselves for jobs, they were reminded today by Dean Fisk, of the college, who announced that R. F. Felke, of the state bureau of vocational rehabilitation, will be in Santa Ana next Friday, September 14, to consult and advise with prospective students.

Under the state provision for such assistance, which covers all fees and books or other educational expense—everything except living costs—any person may take advantage of the opportunity. There are no limitations of age, sex, race or economic status. The type of disability or its origin does not matter. The person does not have to be on the charity roll, Dean Fisk pointed out.

Bulletins of the state bureau, he said, show that the average age of such students is 32 years; also that in many instances after they have been through the courses offered, they earn a weekly wage greater than their earnings before their injury or disability.

After the school course is completed, the state assists in placing the students on jobs, although it does not guarantee jobs.

The plan has been in operation in California since 1921. Santa Ana Junior college, in the past, has had several such students each year, according to Dean Fisk, but is desirous of cooperating with the state in recruiting as large an enrollment as possible in Orange county this term.

Felke, of the state bureau, will be here throughout the day Friday to consult with prospective students, at the junior college. Meanwhile, said Dean Fisk, application blanks for enrollment may be obtained at the dean's office, in College hall, North Main street.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

Club Past Presidents Share Afternoon of Sociability

Holding one of their three sessions of the year, members of the Past Presidents' organization of Santa Ana Women's club yesterday enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. R. Ruth Tiffany's home at 1816 Spurgeon street, where Mrs. Tiffany was joined in hostess duties by Mrs. James C. Clark, Mrs. Lovisa Leslie and Mrs. F. H. Finney.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Clark, president of the Past Presidents' group. Outstanding in interest was a history of the club from its founding in 1906 to the year 1931, when the paper had been written by the founder and first president, the late Mrs. Elizabeth T. Mills, known as "Mother Mills" to all the clubwomen. This history, a prized possession of Mrs. Emma P. Mosbaugh, was read by her.

Mrs. Mosbaugh and Mrs. Leslie are the two living charter members of the club still active in membership, and Mrs. Mosbaugh is senior past president, having served in 1905 and 1906.

Initiation into the ranks of the organization of Mrs. William M. Wells, junior past president; Mrs. Jacob Bohlander, who served Colton Woman's club as president during the World War years, and Mrs. C. F. Crose, president of Santa Ana Ebell society in 1915-17, was made an entertaining feature. The initiation plan was an impromptu one, originating with Mrs. J. D. Watkins, who enacted the role of a judge, sentencing the candidates for "parole" to the custody of individual past presidents. The pleas of the candidates, the history of their "incarceration" as presidents, and their tests in the form of dance, song or poetry, added to the entertainment.

The tea hour was introduced by the placing of small tables arranged with embroidered linens and bud vases of roses. Mrs. Tiffany's handsome Haviland and rare old silver coffee service were used in serving a variety of sandwiches, coffee, fruit jello, angel food cake and minis.

The hostess quartet received as guests Mrs. Emma P. Mosbaugh, Mrs. Anna Gale, Mrs. Mary E. Stanley, Dr. Evalene D. Peo, Mrs. M. C. Williams, Mrs. William Whitehead, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, the three new members, Mrs. W. M. Wells, Mrs. C. F. Crose and Mrs. Jacob Bohlander, and two guests, Mrs. Marian C. Brett and Eleanor Young Elliott.

Reception Compliments Jaycee, High School Faculty Members

Providing an auspicious opening in the new school year, Miss Ida McFadden and Miss Lula B. Finley last night entertained their co-workers on Santa Ana Junior college and high school faculties, at a reception and musicale in the home of Mrs. John McFadden, 806 North Main street. Considerably more than a 100 faculty members with their respective husbands or wives, shared the pleasant affair.

Flower decorations were especially effective. Gerberas and the coral blossoms of the antigonine vine were used in the living room, while single dahlias and maiden-pfern predominated in the dining room where refreshments of fruit punch and cake were served.

Mrs. Donald Swarthout, Pasadena (Gallene Finley) and Miss Mabel McFadden of the home, assisted in various hospitalities of the evening. Presiding at the punch bowl at different intervals were Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Mrs. McKee Plisk, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips, Mrs. J. Russell Bruff and Mrs. L. L. Beeman, with Mrs. Lynn Crawford and Mrs. John McCoy aiding in serving cake.

Increasing the pleasure of the faculty members in this general reunion following the summer vacation weeks, was the musical program in which their hostesses sought the assistance of Miss Ruth Armstrong, Miss Armstrong introduced the Musart quartet, Sally Lee Scates, soprano; Frank Pierce, baritone; Edward H. Burns, cellist; and Miss Armstrong, pianist and director.

The program which the artists presented included the vocal solos, "For You Alone" and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," sung by Mr. Pierce, and "Mountains" (Rachbach) by Mrs. Scates, each group with cello obbligato by Mr. Burns; duet numbers, "Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me," "Because You're Young" and "The Red Mill" (both by Victor Herbert) by Mrs. Scates and Mr. Pierce, and two solo songs by Mr. Burns, "The Swan" (Saint Saens), and "Romance" by Rentsch. Miss Armstrong was accompanist, and the artists were so enthusiastically received that there were various encore numbers.

Endeavor Members Give Shower for Engaged Couple

Miss Madge Russell and her fiancé, Leo Scott, were honor guests at a surprise shower given recently when Christian Endeavor members of Silver Acres Community church joined in entertaining in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Jungkeit, 1409 West Fourth street.

Mrs. Gorge Patterson had planned games, which were played in the backyard, well lighted for the occasion. A mock wedding was put on.

Invited indoors, guests found that a pink and white setting had been arranged. Roses, asters and carnations were used in carrying out the theme. Sisters of the bride-to-be, the Misses Emma and Ellen Russell, twins, had assisted Mrs. Jungkeit in decorating.

An umbrella gay with colored streamers was suspended over a table where gifts for Miss Madge Russell and Mr. Scott had been placed around a wedding cake topped with bride and groom figures. After packages had been opened, guests went back to the yard, where refreshments were served.

Miss Helen Harper was in charge of this interval. Musical numbers were given by Clark Gilham, who played a violin solo; the Misses Rosa Wickliffe and Vivian Harper, who sang a duet.

Present with Miss Madge Russell and Mr. Scott were Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Jungkeit and daughter, Dorothy Yvonne, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Gilham, Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, Alma Harper, Jean Anderson, Vivian Harper, Gladys Wilcox, Ellen Russell, Margie Brown, Jeanne Jiles, Opal Stewart, Dorothy Smith, Rosa Wickliffe, Thelma Cain, Nora Hees, Helen Harper, Edythe Scott, Donna Buck, Emma Russell, Margie Lee Buck; Mesdames Gladys Buck, Roy Jones, Laura M. Scott, Sarah J. McKinsey, C. W. Buck, Gracie Lee Marriotti, Messrs. Sidney Jones, Clifford Buck, Robert Patterson, Archibald Hercules, Pete Harper.

Business Girls Greet New Association Secretary

Greeted by 40 business girls gathered for the first fall meeting of Wrycende Maegden club last night in Y. W. clubrooms, Miss Mary Howard, new Y. W. C. A. secretary and advisor for the group, was accorded a warm welcome.

She proved herself thoroughly interested in the organization and its membership, making a delightful little talk on "Wrycende Maegden Goal." Through her introductory remarks, members learned that she had been doing years of her chosen profession in St. Louis, Mo., Toledo, Ohio and other cities.

Miss Mary Ford, president, conducted the business meeting. Reports were given by Miss Betty Fogle, vice president; Marion Johnson, treasurer; Miss Caroline Cushing, membership chairman; Miss Carolyn Smith, finance chairman; Miss Ruth Bradley, service chairman.

The calendar for the year was presented by Miss Cushing. This included September 29 as the tentative date for a fashion show; October 27-28, educational house party; December 8, Christmas dance; December 18, Christmas party; January, Mexican kitchen; February, midwinter conference; March, birthday banquet; April, Easter breakfast and educational

YOU and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wendelken of Idyllwild were guests Sunday in the home of Mrs. Wendelken's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Comito, 802 Spurgeon street, where they shared a birthday dinner complimenting both Mrs. Wendelken and her sister, Miss Louise Comito. It was also a farewell event before the departure of Mrs. Comito and Miss Louise Comito on Monday for a vacation visit in San Francisco and the Bay district. This will be Miss Comito's first vacation in several years from her duties in the county welfare department.

Russell Elliget, who has been making his home with his grandmother, Mrs. Daisy McGee, 519 West Second street, plans to leave soon for Calexico to enroll as a senior in high school there. His mother, Mrs. J. A. Jiles, is spending some time in this city. In a few weeks she expects to join him and Mr. Jiles, who is employed at Calexico.

Mrs. William Overshiner, 202 North Van Ness avenue, has been spending a few days in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Charles W. Kincaid and daughter, Miss Charlene Kincaid, 1233 South Broadway, have returned from a two weeks' visit at Martinez, Calif., with Mrs. Kincaid's brother, William Nulty, superintendent of the stone department of the Shell Oil Refinery there.

Miss Bernice Miles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Miles, 1931 West Washington avenue, left yesterday for Los Angeles to begin her freshman year at Mount St. Mary's college, Brentwood Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross McNeill and small daughter, Nayan, 408 Halesworth street, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Getty and daughter, Miss Vera Merilyn Getty, 1128 West Pine street, are spending a week's vacation at Lake Arrowhead. They are occupying the Ray Broadfield cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor and sons, Billie and Edgar, former Santa Anans now living at Catalina Island, are spending two days at Big Bear. After a visit with Mr. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor, 418 West Santa Clara avenue, the Williams Taylors will return tomorrow to Avalon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemper Taylor, 401 Harwood Place, have returned from an extensive trip east. They traveled by bus, stopping at Missouri, and going on to Detroit where they took delivery on a new car. They enjoyed an automobile tour to various scenic points, going as far north as Montreal, Can. The couple spent some time in the middle west.

Mrs. Amanda Bates, 519 West Second street, who incurred serious injuries in a fall more than a month ago, is now able to receive her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Eugene, Ore., have arrived by automobile for a visit with Mrs. Martin's mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Martin, 1502 West Tenth street, and his brother, M. U. Martin, 115 East Chestnut street.

house party; May, annual candle lighting ceremony. Classes in contract bridge and in handcraft are to be started in the very near future, it was announced.

Mrs. William Kolkhorst (Dorothy Lutz) was presented with the club's traditional cup for brides. Little Miss Carol Miller gave readings, "A Visit to the Dentist" and "Sister Caroline's Speaking."

Dorcas Club Presides At Annual Banquet For Husbands

Taking Indian summer as the theme for an annual banquet honoring their husbands, members of the First Christian Dorcas club were hostesses at a colorful party Monday evening in the education building. As guests arrived they were greeted by an Indian maid and a brave, enacted by Mesdames Ocie Hagthrop and Sadie Bell Green.

Indian rugs, vases, pottery and the floor strewn with pine needles, provided a forest setting for tables centered with miniature wigwams. Place cards were paddles for the tiny canoes which served as nut cups. Decorative napkins furthered the Indian theme.

After invocation by Charles Hill, Mrs. Ted Faulkner presented the toastmistress, Mrs. Clyde Branson. Mrs. Sadie Bell Green sang "Indian Love Call"; Mrs. Thomas Williams gave the welcome toast, with William Woodward responding; Mrs. Kenneth Loughton and Al Raymond made toasts to husbands and wives. As Mrs. Green sang "Minnetonka," a pantomime was given, with special lighting effects. Concluding the program was a reading, "An Indian Legend" by Mrs. Virgil Kiser, and a song, "Ten Little Indians," by Frank Pierce. Miss Elizabeth Morgan was accompanist for all musical numbers.

Participants included the Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Buchanan and Messrs and Mesdames A. W. Gerard, Rance Sullivan, A. W. Rime, Ted Faulkner, George Gould, William Woodward, John J. Mills, Clare Bales, Louis Hoff, C. E. Johnson, John Taylor, George Allison, Edward Greene, Larry Newberger, Kenneth Loughton, Virgil Kiser, Charles Hill, Lewis Williams, Thomas McAdoo, Darcy Crosby, Forrest White, Guy Penn, James Coulson, Royce Williams, Clyde Branson, Earl Hagaman, Charles Neukom, Herbert Holman, Al Raymond, Merle Taylor, Dale Elliott, D. Tibbals, Charles Tibbets, Harry Reihl, Walter Kennedy, Glen Rathbun, Chester Biberback, Fred Strong, Fred Perryman, Thomas Williams, George Bissett; Dr. and Mrs. Horace Leasing, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Murane; Mesdames Glenna Holman, Bessie Calhoun, Ethel Becker, Marcus Lassiter, Maude Johnson, Nell Miller, Sadie Bell Green, Ocie Hagthrop; Miss Elizabeth Morgan; Frank Pierce and Elmer Clem.

Crystal Shower Comes As Post Nuptial Event

Arranging a post nuptial event in honor of Mrs. Paul H. Gilbert, (Blanche Holloway) Mrs. Charles W. Potts presided at a crystal shower recently in her home, 710 1/2 South Broadway street.

Pompon dahlias decked the rooms where bridge was played during the early hours of the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Gilbert, Miss Katherine Smith and Mrs. Fred Warren, scoring first, second and third high. Mrs. Gilbert then was showered with lovely gifts in crystal.

Mrs. Potts centered tables with lighted tapers at the refreshment hour, when a salad course was served.

Present with Mrs. Potts and her honor guest, Mrs. Gilbert, were Mesdames Guy Gilbert, Robert Gilbert, Lloyd Sheerer, Frederick C. Elliott, Carolyn B. Wells, Ray Price, John Lutz Jr., Marion Mohr, Lester Bassett, Fred Warren, Fred Dean, Walter Swanberger and the Misses Cora M. Kurrie, Katherine Smith, Mildred Schmidt and Ruth Potter.

On September 13, 1922, the thermometer registered 136.6 degrees at Azizia, Tripoli. The same year, the temperature was 134 in Death Valley, Calif.

Auxiliary Schedules Party for Late This Month

Making plans to start their fall activities with a family party Monday evening, September 24, members of Women's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical Union met Monday night for a business session in the home of Mrs. J. W. Parkinson, 325 East Edinger street.

It was decided to invite women eligible to membership in the auxiliary, together with their husbands, to be special guests at the party, scheduled for 8 p. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones near Anaheim. All participants are to bring white elephant gifts for exchange during an evening of games.

The next business meeting is to be held Monday, October 8, at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. William Lawrence, 1022 Halladay street.

The organization's recently completed work was on display Monday night.

Mrs. Parkinson served home made ice cream and cookies at the evening's close.

Present were Mesdames J. H. Patison, Warren Brakeman, George W. Duke, William Lawrence, C. A. Rousseau, Carl Fisher, Mabel Sherwood, J. W. Jones, Charles Clayton, F. E. Stilwell, V. C. Shidler and J. W. Parkinson, hostess.

2 medium sized onions
3 stalks celery
1 Tbsp. minced parsley
1 Tbsp. butter
4 Tbs. leaf
Salt and pepper
6 cups hot water
2 cups fresh crab meat
3 Tbsps. flour
1-2 cups milk

Run all vegetables through the grinder and saute gently in butter. When soft, add the water, bay leaf, salt, pepper and crab, reserving a few choice pieces. Cook until vegetables are soft, run all through a sieve and return to fire, adding the milk. Make a paste of the flour with milk and stir into soup when it boils. Season with parsley and paprika and put a small spoonful of whipped cream in cup before the soup is served. 8 cups.

Note: canned crab, shrimp, or salmon may also be used.

Veal and Egg Plant Birds: Cut small squares of thin veal and slip on small wooden skewers, alternating veal with a square of egg plant. Dip in egg and crumbs, brown in fat, transfer to baking pan with a cup of broth or can of diluted tomato soup, and bake slowly for 1-2 hours.

String Beans with Onion: Chop fine 3 large onions and fry to soft consistency in bacon fat. Drain off the fat, add a quart can of string beans, with 1-2 cup water, season, cover and simmer until served.

Lime Sponge: Prepare a package of lime jelly powder, adding more sugar and lemon juice. When it jellies, whip well and fold in 1 stiffly beaten egg white. Chill and serve with cream.

Approximate calory value per cookie, 110.

Crisp Cucumber Chips
Select freshly picked cucumbers about 6 inches long. Nip off both ends and soak in brine made with 1 cup salt to each gallon of water, plus 2 tsp. powdered alum. Weight the cucumbers under the brine and leave for 3 days. Drain. Slice the cucumbers in round 1-4 inch thick and place in large vessel. Pour over them a hot sweet pickling syrup, weight down and let stand 24 hours. Re-heat the pickle each day for three days, then seal on last sealing. For the pickle use to each quart of medium vinegar, 1-2 cups sugar with mixed whole spices tied in a bag (for each quart 1 stick cinnamon, broken, 1 tsp. whole cloves, 1 tsp. allspice and 1-2 bay leaf. Remove spices when the pickles are ready for bottling.)

TODAY'S RECIPE
Date Cookies
1 cup butter or vegetable shortening
1 cup white sugar
3 eggs
1 cup chopped seeded dates
1 cup chopped dates

Thursaday: The recipes will be Sure-fire Dumplings and Ginger Pear Chips.

THIS FROCK MAKES GIRL LOOK TALLER

PATTERN 1752 By ANNE ADAMS

For the little girl who wears cotton frocks all year round this design will be charming in a sturdy bright gingham, but the little ruffle will set beautifully in wool as well. Challis is a nice material for a little girl's dress since it has a slight additional warmth and it washes beautifully. The ruffle at the edge of the yoke is not indispensable, as the back view shows. Any child who wears this frock will look at least an inch taller than she is because of the long unbroken front panel—and little girls, like their mothers, have a yen for that, these days.

Pattern 1752 is available in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 8 takes 2-3 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

And while you are writing, why not include an order for a fascinating book, crammed from cover to cover with stunning illustrations and captivating descriptions of new fashions, fabrics and other things that make a woman chic...THE CURRENT ISSUE OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK. PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to The Register Pattern Dept., Santa Ana, Calif.
